Man Shot On Day To Be Wed

By The Canadian Press
The holiday weekend brought 10 accidental deaths on the mainland, including a young man killed on his wedding day by his own rifle.

RCMP in Fort St. John said Robert H. Beattie, 24, was found by relatives Saturday, dead of a bullet wound in the head. He had apparently slipped and discharged the rifle accidentally while hunting near Fort St. John.

He was to have been married Saturday afternoon.

The B.C. toll included one other hunting death, seven highway fatalities and the death of one man in a fire.

FIRE, TRAFFIC

Andrew Johnson, 25, of Vanderhoof, was alone in a house on the Prince George District Indian Reserve when fire broke out early Monday.

Patricia Toner, 4, of Surrey, died early today of injuries suffered Sunday when her parents' car was hit by another vehicle.

A two-car collision Monday on the southern Transprovincial Highway near Princeton took the lives of Mary Ellen Sutherland, 61, of Kelowna and Leslie William Bradford, 51, of Vernon.

Bradford's wife, Ruth Mary, and her mother, Mrs. Grace Douglas, of Vernon, were seriously injured. Miss Doris Sutherland of Vancouver, an occupant of the other car, was less seriously injured and was in satisfactory condition at a Princeton hospital.

SHOT HIMSELF

Lorne Sullivan, 18, of Prince George, accidentally shot himself to death in the abdomen on Sunday while bending over to pick blueberries 65 miles southwest of Prince George.

The other traffic fatalities: Mrs. Mary Marino, 55, of Revelstoke, killed Friday when a small bus plunged over an embankment on the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

John Turner, 21, killed Saturday in a two-car collision in Vancouver.

Richard Wood, 44, of Sumas, killed Saturday night when hit by a car while riding a bicycle near Vedder Canal in the Fraser Valley.

Kevin Edward Campbell, 8, hit by a truck in Prince Rupert Saturday.

Records Crash At Smash Fair

By HUMPHREY DAVY

A record-breaking 20,000 persons attended the 96th annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society over the Labor Day weekend.

"I have never seen as big a fair on Vancouver Island," said Albert Doney, president of the society, as the three-day exhibition closed Monday at Saanichton.

He estimated there were 6,000 on the grounds Saturday, 2,000 Sunday and 12,000 Monday. Previous high attendance was 15,000.

Other records fell too. While exhibits in some sections were less than last year, the total number of entries was greater—more than 3,000.

The weather was near-perfect—sunny but not too warm on Saturday, cloudy on Sunday and Monday. A short shower Monday afternoon did not interfere with the fun.

There were more than 500 cars parked on the grounds and a similar number on two nearby fields along East Saanich Road.

Crowds flowed almost continuously three and four abreast in the main building, and lineups for rides straggled halfway across the infield at times.

A large crowd watched the highland dancing Monday.

191 PASSENGERS HAVE DIED

Airline 'Bomb-Smeller' Under Study

CHICAGO (AP) — An electronic nose more sensitive than a bloodhound's is being developed to sniff out bombs planted aboard airliners.

The project conducted by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute was made possible by a $39,000 one-year grant from the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA has wrestled with the problem of aerial sabotage since Nov. 1, 1955, when a time bomb destroyed an airliner in flight near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. In all, the FAA estimates 191 persons have been killed by criminally-placed bombs.

The feasibility of building an electronic bomb detecting device "looks good," research director Dr. Andrew Dravnieks said in an interview Monday, "but we are trying to make it practical."

"We are not yet at the stage where we can visualize a complete piece of equipment," Dravnieks said. "That is about five or 10 years away."

The electronic nose could operate on much the same principle as a human nose. A complex field of electrical detectors acutely sensitive to tiny amounts of vapor emitted by explosives would serve as olfactory nerves. When molecules of an explosive material such as dynamite are detected, the disturbance will trigger an alarm. Under controlled laboratory conditions, Dravnieks said, the lingering odor of dynamite can be detected in a box three weeks after the explosive has been removed. But the problem now, he said, is making the nose discriminate between odors of explosives and those of harmless substances.

Right now researchers are exposing the machines to a seemingly endless list of creams, deodorants, lighter fluids, or anything a passenger might carry.

Separatist Slogans Chanted

By TED BLACKMAN

MONTREAL (CP) — Scores of youths carrying flags and shouting "revolutionary slogans" staged a rowdy demonstration Monday night in midtown Montreal, burning Union Jacks and overturning three cars.

Police arrested 76 and said they would be charged today with disturbing the peace, refusing to obey police orders to disperse and holding a parade without a permit.

The disturbance erupted about 7:00 p.m. when the demonstrators marched to Lafontaine Park, the scene of a similar incident a week ago when 46 separatist youths clashed with police.

Police were tipped off in advance and used a squad of mounted policemen to break up the parade. But an hour later the youths, carrying Quebec fleur de lis and French tricolor flags, reassembled in the park.

A Union Jack was burned at the foot of the Dollard des Ormeaux monument and several more set afire in front of a building occupied by Montreal-Matin, a French-language morning newspaper.

Two cars were overturned near the building, a block north of the park on Marie-Anne Street, and another automobile upset on Boyer Street, a block west. The vehicles were heavily damaged.

'SEEK POPULARITY'

One of the mob's leaders was believed to be a separatist but "most of them were hot-headed kids striving for popularity," Insp. Paul Picard said. "Once we got to the leaders, many of the others left."

Those arrested were brought to two police stations by police vans and cruisers and lodged in cells.

The mob, estimated at 300 persons at one point, shouted such slogans as "vive le Quebec libre" (long live free Quebec); "vive le FLQ" (long live the Front de Liberation Quebecois); and "vive l'indépendance" (long live independence).

The disturbance flared up when the crowd reached the half-mile square park, bounded by Rachel, Papineau, Parc Lafontaine and Sherbrooke Streets, and assembled at the monument, dedicated to a 17th-century figure who fought Indians at Long Sault and saved Montreal from capture.

Two youths set the flag afire but the blaze died out when the mounted police scattered the crowd. A youth grabbed the smoldering emblem and ran off.

Although the crowd yelled FLQ slogans, police said they weren't associated with a particular organization. The FLQ was a terrorist ring responsible for a series of bombings in Montreal in the spring of 1963 that killed one man and maimed another.

AT GANDER, NFLD.

Cuban Group Flees Airliner

HALIFAX (UPI) — Fourteen Cubans, the biggest single Cuban group known to defect in Canada at one time, today applied for political asylum in the United States.

Five men, four women and five children escaped from a Czechoslovakian airliner Saturday night at Gander, Nfld., during a refuelling stop on a scheduled flight from Havana to Prague.

The mass defection brought to 100 the number of defections from Communist airliners at Gander since August of 1962, a Gander immigration spokesman said.

Although immigration authorities here declined comment, a reliable Cuban spokesman here said the defectors included a Baptist minister, his wife and four children.

The Cuban spokesman said the defectors told him the Communist government of Premier Fidel Castro has tightened food rations and ordered stricter vigilance on gusanos ("worms"), the description for Cubans fleeing the island nation.

FOUR STUDENTS

The spokesman said two of the women have husbands in the U.S. and one has with her a three-year-old child. Four men were identified as students between the ages of 18 and 21.

He said that 42 Cubans are now in the immigration detention quarters where exiles are housed while they await asylum applications.

The Cuban spokesman said the airliner, which flew out of Gander after the defection, carried between 82 and 90 passengers.

Three Chiefs In Crossfire On Flag Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — The private meetings of party leaders on the flag deadlock spilled out into the Commons today with heated exchanges over who was to blame for the breakdown in negotiations.

H. A. Olson (SC-Medicine Hat) set the stage for the crossfire when he asked Prime Minister Pearson whether he had received any indication from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that another meeting of the party leaders would be useful.

The prime minister said no. Mr. Diefenbaker then asked Mr. Pearson whether he would depart from his "stubborn attitude."

The prime minister said the "adjustments of positions made by the government were not met in any respect by the leader of the Opposition."

Mr. Diefenbaker jumped up to say it was he who suggested the formation of a committee on the flag.

Mr. Pearson said it wasn't. He said the suggestion came from NDP Leader T. C. Douglas. It was accepted by the prime minister and rejected by Mr. Diefenbaker.

India Government Suffers Blow From Communists

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's ruling Congress party was thrown out of power in Kerala state today by the Communist-led opposition on a vote of no confidence.

The fall of the Congress government in this tropical state on India's southwest coast came by a vote of 32 to 50, with 15 dissident Congress party members siding with the opposition.

Shastri, who also faces a motion of no confidence in the Indian parliament, must now either turn the Kerala administration over to the Communists, or run the state's affairs from New Delhi under the rarely used device called president's rule.

In New Delhi, an onslaught of Communists and other opposition parties mounted in parlia-

Shastri sat quietly with folded hands in a front row seat as speaker after speaker — Communists, Socialists, Independents and Hindu rightists — denounced his regime for failing to meet food shortages and spiralling food prices.

The opposition alliance was building up to a vote on Thursday or Friday on the no confidence motion they managed to get introduced Monday on the first day of the first Parliament session since the death of Prime Minister Nehru in May.

Nehru faced only one no confidence motion — after the 1962 Chinese invasion — in his 17

Congo Rebels Proclaim New Republic

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Rebels in the northern Congo have proclaimed a "people's republic" in Stanleyville and are pushing toward Coquilhatville. They may try to link up with insurgent forces in Kwilu province.

The rebel radio in Stanleyville said Christophe Gbenye, a former vice-premier of the Congo, has been named president of the people's republic. As defence minister it named Gaston Soumialot, main rebel leader in the East who has been in close contact with Red Chinese diplomats in neighboring Burundi.

The broadcast said the next rebel target was Coquilhatville, capital of Cuvette Centrale province on the Congo's northwest border. Its capture would put the rebels in control of most of the northern Congo between Burundi in the east and the Congo (Brazzaville) Republic 800 miles to the west.

A linkup with the Kwilu rebels led by Pierre Mulele, Peking-trained former minister of education, would cut off Leopoldville, which is less than 300 miles west of Kwilu.

Rebel forces were reported storming the jungle town of Boende about 200 miles from Coquilhatville. If Boende falls, the last barrier to the provincial capital is a garrison of 200 Congolese gendarmes at Ingende midway between the two towns.

However, Joseph Engulu, governor of Cuvette Centrale province, reported he had mobilized tribesmen loyal to the Leopoldville government to defend the province.

years as India's first prime minister and easily defeated it.

Shastri also is expected to survive on an overwhelming majority of his ruling Congress party. But the fact he is having to lay his government on the line after only three months in office is a severe blow to the prestige of the mild-mannered little man who is beset with the food problem, wide-spread rioting and general unrest, the worst floods in 40 years and disturbing signs of strife in his own party.

In turbulent Kerala, where Communist-agitated discontent has flared into bloody riots several times since independence, president's rule was expected to be clamped on to keep power out of Communist hands.

Shastri and top cabinet members were reported planning to meet later today and formally decide to take this step.

'UN in Danger Of Collapsing'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker, in a speech reminiscent of his address to the United Nations General Assembly in 1960, warned here Sunday that the world peace-keeping organization is in danger of collapse.

Speaking to a crowd estimated at 8,000 celebrating the 150th anniversary of the birth of the Ukrainian poet, writer and artist Taras Shevchenko, the former prime minister blamed the Soviet Union for the world body's predicament.

He charged the U.S.S.R. with flouting the UN charter by defaulting payment of its share of costs for world peace-keeping operations.

"In the United Nations within the next few weeks the free world will face a challenge," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Unless the Soviet Union pays the $60,000,000 it owes for the last two years to the world organization for the Congo and Middle East peace-keeping operations, the U.S.S.R. is in danger of losing its vote.

The deadline for payment is Nov. 10 when the general assembly meets.

Clad in a light topcoat in 50-degree weather and facing a chill wind, the opposition leader stood in front of the huge bronze statue of the Ukrainian national poet on the grounds of the legislative building to deliver his speech.

The rabbit show proved popular. There were 158 animals in the show, which included Flemish giants weighing 16 pounds.

The smallest breed in the show was white Polish weighing two pounds.

Veteran rabbit breeders received a surprise when 14-year-old Don Hewitt, 941 Tulip, placed first in two major classes.

The youth, competing against breeders from the mainland and Vancouver Island, had the best New Zealand white in the show and the best white normal fur. Don started breeding last year.

Chinese Reluctance Won't Stop Red Talks

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev made clear Monday the Soviet Union plans to go ahead with its call for a world Communist conference in spite of China's refusal to take part.

He said the holding of the conference next year and of preliminary talks in December is the only correct course to follow.

Khrushchev, speaking on radio and television, said Russia's determination to stage the conference had the support of a majority of the world's Communist parties.

The Soviet leader was reporting to the country on his nine-day visit to Czechoslovakia, from which he returned Saturday.

"The Chinese leaders reject the holding of a conference, evidently preferring abuse and bad language to a principled party discussion at a conference," he declared.

"They have blackmailed fraternal parties with threat of a split."

"Under such conditions, the only correct decision is to gather the representatives of all fraternal parties which are for unity in the ranks of the international communist movement and for the principles of proletarian internationalism, and collectively to discuss the pressing problems."

"This is the general opinion of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, of the Communist party of Czechoslovakia and of a majority of other Marxist-Leninist parties."

Military Triumvirate Names Minh

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—South Viet Nam's military triumvirate has elected Maj.-Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh as its chairman and will re-elevate him to the honorary title of chief of state as well, the government announced today.

It was not immediately clear in this latest of frequent recent shifts in the Vietnamese political kaleidoscope whether actual power had shifted to Minh or was still retained by Premier Nguyen Khanh.

The triumvirate has promised to turn power over to civilians within two months. It consists of Minh, Khanh and Lt.-Gen. Tran Thien Khiem.

The three generals agreed Monday night on Minh's elevation.

They gave him the responsibility of naming a civilian council, which in turn is to draw up a provisional constitution and name a provisional assembly by the end of October.

Helicopter Rescues Boy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Peters, 15, had lived for six years under a doctor's warning that a childhood intestinal ailment could recur without warning.

Sunday, 5,000 feet up a mountain, it struck him suddenly.

Eleven other boys in a party from the Fraserview Menonite Church assisted Bob to a cabin before a blizzard blew up and trapped them there for the night.

It was 20 hours before a RCAF search and rescue helicopter was able to fly in and pluck Bob off the Lum Chum Mountain face 20 miles from Chilliwack.

Peters was released from hospital today.

PROBLEMS MOUNT

While he waited for the weather to clear RCAF Flt.-Lieut. Ray Rasmussen found that the helicopter's tachometer which measures the speed of the engine was not working correctly.

A replacement was flown in from Comox. When the crew made an attempt to land there was no place suitable near the cabin.

A message was dropped urging the sick boy to be hurried to a ridge on the mountain.

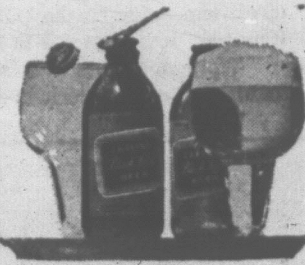

Flt.-Lieut. Rasmussen stripped the helicopter as light as possible to make it easy to hover, flew in again and waited over the ridge, 800 feet higher up the mountain. A basket stretcher was lowered 175 feet to the ground and winched Peters into the helicopter.

Monetary Fund Lack Worries 102 Nations

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP)—The hare of world trade has hopped ahead in the past decade at an annual increase of 10 per cent. The tortoise of money to pay for it—both gold and hard currency reserves—has crept along at 2.8 per cent.

This is the dilemma which confronts the finance ministers of 102 nations, all from the non-Communist bloc except Yugoslavia, meeting in Tokyo this week at the annual conference of the International Monetary Fund.

If, as in the fable, the hare would lie down and let the tortoise overtake it, there would be no problem. But with mounting demands from developing nations and continuing expansion among industrial countries, that seems unlikely.

Twenty years after its creation in wartime 1944, the fund is coming to grips with what it calls "international liquidity," a way to replenish international coffers with gold and dollars or some other medium of exchange to keep trade going.

Before the First World War, gold was the standard of international trade. It collapsed when the warring nations had to pay huge amounts of gold to the United States for strategic materials.

GOLD NOT AVAILABLE
With so much gold concentrated in one country, it was no longer available to pay for the exchange of goods on a world scale.

The monetary fund put gold back into the trade markets, but in a lesser role. The dollar, the only currency for which gold could be exchanged, became in effect the new international trade standard.

For years, the dollar was steady and reliable. But in the 1960s the U.S. balance of payments plunged into the red because of its huge foreign aid commitments. European countries began storing dollars and converting the surplus into gold. The result was a shrinkage in U.S. gold reserves from about $25,000,000,000 in 1949 to $15,500,000,000 in May, 1964. The European Economic Community, the six common market nations, held about $13,000,000,000 in gold.

The American dollar shortage made more dollars available to other countries for trade. But now that the United States is correcting its dollar imbalance, there are fewer of them available and less international liquidity.

NEED TO COMPENSATE

The monetary fund nations are searching for ways to compensate for the reduction in the dollar outflow.

One suggestion is to double the price of gold, now officially $35 an ounce and unchanged since 1934. The United States, whose dollar is pegged directly to gold, objects because this would have the effect of changing the value of the dollar.

The French back a proposal to issue a new kind of currency to replace the dollar in international trade. It would be confined to the 10 big industrial nations of the "Paris group" of the monetary fund.

The have-not nations vehemently oppose this because it would shut them out. They want a big increase in the reserve fund from which they could draw freely. This would be done by boosting the quota which each nation contributes to the fund.

To make everything more confusing, the Paris group argues that there really isn't a shortage in international liquidity. But they say they will go along with a 25 per cent increase in the reserve fund.

Fund Quotas Increase 'Right Move'

TOKYO (AP)—United States Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told world monetary leaders Monday that the United States economy is expanding in "the longest, strongest and best-balanced advance of any peace-time period."

Dillon told fellow governors of the International Monetary Fund at their annual conference here that during the last fiscal year the United States rate of growth in industrial production and in the economy as a whole was better than 5 per cent in real terms and that the gross national product increased by more than $40,000,000,000.

After describing the U.S. economy, Dillon told the governors that despite the improvement in the U.S. balance of payments deficit "we are only half-way back to external balance". He added: "We cannot relax nor do we intend to."

"An increase in fund quotas seems to us the right move as member countries enter the next phase in the evolutionary development of the international monetary system."

He warned, however, that further substantial increases in reserves would only, for the most part, increase the flow to a few industrialized countries, particularly to Western Europe, "unless and until those countries reduce their chronic surpluses through a relative rise in imports, an increase in their capital exports, or any other acceptable combination of actions that would overcome their propensity to absorb whatever new liquidity may be added to the system in the form of owned reserves".

The American dollar shortage made more dollars available to other countries for trade. But now that the United States is correcting its dollar imbalance, there are fewer of them available and less international liquidity.

The French back a proposal to issue a new kind of currency to replace the dollar in international trade. It would be confined to the 10 big industrial nations of the "Paris group" of the monetary fund.

$4 Billion Fund Boost Proposed

TOKYO (AP)—The governors of the International Monetary Fund proposed today that the fund's 102 member nations take first steps to boost the fund's reserves now totalling $65,600,000,000.

The United States and other industrialized nations are urging an increase of 25 per cent in the quotas each nation contributes to the fund, which is used to stimulate international trade. This would add $4,000,000,000.

A resolution by the board of governors on the second day of the fund's annual meeting asked the executive directors to "proceed to consider the question of adjusting the quotas of members of the fund and at an early date submit an appropriate proposal to the board of governors."

The conference is expected to approve the resolution Thursday. The fund's reserves then could be increased before the end of 1964 or soon after.

Some countries such as Japan also are expected to ask for selective increases to make their contributions more in line with their industrial development.

The have-not nations of the world have spearheaded the move to enlarge the fund's resources because it will give them a bigger reservoir from which to draw in times of economic stress.

Sirens Wail Starts Panic

OTTAWA (CP)—A hunter's shotgun blast was blamed Monday by civil defence authorities for the setting off of 39 sirens in the capital area Saturday afternoon.

A spokesman said pellets accidentally pierced a metal casing carrying a number of cables between the federal warning centre at Carp, Ont., and the capital. The resulting short circuit set off all the sirens in the Ottawa area.

A minor panic resulted in Ottawa when the sirens began their uninterrupted 35 minutes of wailing. Highways were clogged briefly with traffic and police offices were deluged with telephone calls.

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Egypt has instructed the 11,600-ton United States ship York, bound for Port Said with 18,000 tons of wheat, to proceed to Bombay to help relieve the Indian food shortage, official sources here said Monday.

Bribe Expose Lawyer David Sturdy Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Sturdy, 57-year-old Vancouver lawyer who touched off the Sommers bribery scandal in British Columbia in 1955, died in hospital Sunday.

He was admitted to hospital Friday with an undisclosed illness. Funeral services were to be held today.

In 1955, Sturdy made public claims that Robert Sommers, then provincial lands and forests minister in the Social Credit cabinet, had accepted bribes.

The resulting litigation erupted into the longest and perhaps most complicated trial in Canadian legal history. A jury later brought in 27 guilty verdicts, 16 not guilty and reached no agreement on 22 other charges.

Sommers was given five years in prison and fined $125 for conspiracy and accepting bribes in connection with the issuance of government forest management licences.

Japan Seeks Fish Harvest

OTTAWA (UPI)—Three-country talks will open here Wednesday to thrash out Japan's objections to being cut out of the rich salmon harvest of the North Pacific ocean.

The talks, bringing together delegates from the United States, Japan and Canada, will be opened by Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud.

Following the brief welcome delegates will go behind closed doors to iron out Japan's objections to the international convention for the high seas fisheries of the North Pacific ocean. The agreement was signed nearly 12 years ago by the three countries. Last year Japan sought changes and there have been two other meetings since then in Tokyo and Washington—neither of them successful.

Under the agreement Japan cannot fish for salmon, herring or halibut west of the 175th meridian of longitude roughly bisecting the Pacific and Bering Sea.

Japan now wants to move into what Canada and the U.S. regard as their natural resources, developed and nurtured by them.

Japan originally agreed under the "abstention principle" not to fish in an area in which the resource is being scientifically managed and fully utilized by countries claiming prior right to it—Canada and the U.S. Japan won one major point last year by getting permission to fish halibut in the Bering Sea. The other two countries could not prove they were scientifically managing and fully utilizing the resource.

Now she is seeking to move into the salmon harvest, claiming that the abstention principle is a discriminatory dodge that has little to do with conservation.

If you're trying to get the most for your insurance dollar, the tape-recorded comments of Russ Jackson may help you:

Russ Jackson talks about doubling his money with London Life

Why did Russ Jackson—football player and mathematics teacher—choose a $25,000 Jubilee whole life policy? Russ gave his reasons in a tape-recorded conversation in his Ottawa home. Here they are—in his own words:

"There are not too many places where you can double your money as well as protect your family."

This one comment sums up Russ Jackson's reasons for buying a London Life Jubilee policy. It's interesting to hear him explain the steps that led up to this investment.

"Being in the position I'm in, I have a lot of insurance people who contact me and try to get me to take insurance policies of one sort or another."

"But I had known some people in London Life and when a chap here in Ottawa—contacted me, I was ready for insurance and more than willing to talk to him."

Why did Russ feel he was "ready for insurance"?

"I was married in 1961 to a Hamilton girl, Lois. We now have two youngsters—a boy, Kevin, and a little girl, Suzanne."

"This policy gives my wife protection if anything should happen to me and would enable her to carry on what I think would be a fairly normal life."

Protection is one side of his Jubilee whole life policy. Investment is the other. Russ looked into this thoroughly.

"As many people know, bonds and investments are part of the Grade 13 Algebra course. Teaching this to the students at high school has made me aware of all the pitfalls and possibilities in this type of investment. I believe the mathematical background has helped a great deal in evaluating this London Life policy.

"My monthly premiums are $34.58."

"If I live to age 65, I will have paid in—being 28 at present—a little over $15,000. And if I leave my dividends to accumulate, which I plan on doing, then this policy can be worth over $30,000."

"This would be double the amount I would have paid in premiums."

(Note: The $30,000 figure Russ mentions above is made up of $13,600 guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends. These dividends are based on the 1964 dividend scale. While they are not guaranteed, London Life has had an outstanding record of dividend growth. For example, since 1951 the dividend rate has been increased seven times.)

"I have to admit it's a long-term investment—you're not going to make a lot of money quickly—but the protection that you get with it makes it extremely attractive."

London Life insurance is flexible. Here are three of the choices Russ will have when he reaches age 65:

- (a) He can continue to pay premiums on his $25,000 policy and continue to build savings.
- (b) He can withdraw his $30,000 or so as a lump sum.
- (c) He can use his savings to provide an annuity for life or for a set number of years.

Russ talked briefly about one other feature of his insurance program:

"I also have what is known as an income continuance. This extends through to May, 1984, and guarantees Lois—if anything happens to me between now and 1984—$200 a month, every month, until that date in '84. The purpose of this is to guarantee my children—who are very young now—the chance of going to college."

(This income would be in addition to the $25,000 provided by Russ' Jubilee policy.)

Russ Jackson's story is not unusual. Today, most young men know they need insurance to protect their families. Many of them are discovering they can also double their money with London Life. A representative of the Company can show you how.

Buyers and Sellers

THE RECENT CANADIAN-Japanese ministerial meeting at Tokyo has emphasized what had already become evident in the trade relations of the two countries: Japan will not be content to maintain the present level of business. Japanese industrialists and exporters will work continually for an expansion of their markets and economic interests in Canada.

This should be welcome to Canada too, for the more Japan sells to us the more Japanese importers can buy from us. Our growing wheat and metal sales to Japan are cases in point. But we should not forget—as Japan cannot—that Canadian sales to Japan run far in excess of our purchases from that country.

In 1961, for instance, we sold Japan $231 millions of goods and bought $116 millions. In 1962 we sold $245 millions and bought $125 millions, maintaining Japan as our third most important customer and our fifth-largest source of goods.

This unbalance still exists. Efforts of the Japanese to sell us more have been met over the years by insistence that Japanese exporters impose "voluntary" quotas on themselves in fields where they would claim a large proportion of the Canadian market.

In view of this restriction, it is odd to read that Canada's Trade Minister Sharp reportedly criticized Japanese quantitative restrictions on the import of Canadian sulphur and whisky. Such protection of domestic markets would seem to work both ways.

But of new interest, arising from the Tokyo talks, is the disclosure that Japan hopes to enter the heavy equipment market in Canada, with a view to bidding on such large-scale projects as provision of turbines and penstocks for the Peace River and Columbia River power undertakings. This would mark a new development in our trade relations with Japan, although the latter country will no doubt find heavy competition in trying to break into the traditional preference for British and American products where Canadian equipment is not used.

In any case, the burgeoning economy and thrusting export efforts of crowded Japan will be increasingly felt in our trade relations with that land. It will be a mistake to turn our backs on a producer whose goods are making a world-wide name for quality, and who offers promise of a vast and profitable market in the Far East.

Togliatti's New Tack

THE POLITICAL "LAST WILL and testament" of the late Italian Communist Party leader Palmiro Togliatti, which was published last week by his party successors over the strong objections of the Soviet party, has stirred wide interest and will undoubtedly become one of the decisive instruments shaping the course of the communist movement in Europe for years to come.

As leader of the largest Communist party outside of the Soviet Union or Red China, and the only one in a free country which has actually increased its membership and influence since the end of the Second World War, Signor Togliatti was a man of great stature in the international councils of the party. His demand that every communist party must be allowed to act autonomously is almost sure to wreck Moscow's hopes of calling a "summit" meeting of world communist leaders and extracting from them a pledge of loyalty to Soviet leadership and condemnation of the course of action taken by the leaders of Communist China. Not that the Chinese Reds gain much comfort from this, for the late Italian party chief has also strongly scored the "erroneous and ruinous" interpretations of communism offered by Peking.

While the Togliatti testament has aroused a considerable sensation it should be realized that it was not a sudden expression of a changed view of the future of world communism written at the last moment by a dying man. Rather it was the culmination of a deliberate program to change the course of the party which the Italian leader began several years ago after mature reflection on a long lifetime spent in the revolutionary movement.

In his own country he had long given up the notion that power could be won by armed force and he doubted that it could be won by revolutionary methods in any well-developed country. He urged instead the adoption of the tactics of "erosion" and called for communists to work patiently and peacefully for the evolution of socialism which, as Marx pointed out, was the "inevitable" course which would be taken by the world.

Surveying the year-by-year gain of socialist legislation in Italy (as well as in other highly-developed countries) Palmiro Togliatti could tell an interviewer shortly before his death that "Victory is certain. But it is not yet in sight." Within a reasonable time, he said, the minority of capitalists and land-holders in Italy would either be forced to capitulate or else to venture on a desperate resort to arms to defend their privileges. And they would find, he added, that the majority would be against them along with their own system of legality.

Quite clearly the Togliatti view of the future course of communism will not be acceptable to the directors of party policy in the underdeveloped areas of the world where the gap between privilege and poverty is so vast. In Asia, Africa and many parts of South America a program which calls for time and patience in redressing the wrongs and oppressions of centuries will have no appeal to the masses.

In the developed countries, however, acceptance of the Togliatti program for independence of national communist parties, gradualism in the achievement of socialism, discard of the monolithic discipline which precludes free public debate of party problems, could bring a new lease on life to communist parties which have been steadily withering away.

All Hands on Deck

WHEN MR. STANLEY Knowles rose in the House of Commons to introduce a private members bill that the quorum of the House be raised from the present 20 to 50, there were 29 of the people's representatives present. By the time the measure was talked out (killed for this session, at least) by Mr. Gordon Churchill, seven of the members had walked out of the House leaving just a quorum plus two.

There are, of course, arguments on both sides as to whether a member of parliament should spend more time in the House discussing the nation's business. There are numerous duties to be carried out quite aside from House attendance, including committee meetings, receiving and corresponding with constituents and others. Much of the debate that goes on is turgid and time-wasting and, when important debate or a vote is scheduled, the party whips can be depended on to have most of the members in their seats.

Despite all the excuses for non-attendance, however, many Canadian voters have made it known that they are not quite satisfied with the situation. There is the lurking suspicion that perhaps some members are not quite so busy on committee or constituency work as they claim to be. There is the notorious absence of many members for long weekends from Thursday afternoon to Monday morning. There is the notion that perhaps if more members were forced to stay in their places while their fellows churned the air with tedious rhetoric there would be a concerted move to shorten debate and move business along more quickly.

These feelings are aggravated by the knowledge that the 181 members elected to the first Parliament of Canada in 1867 were paid the grand sum of $6 a day or a flat $800 if the session lasted more than 30 days, while the 265 members of this Parliament receive $18,000 a year, an increase of 2,900 per cent. The responsibilities of Parliament and the sums of taxpayers' money it disburses have, of course, increased enormously.

It may be that the Canadian Parliament of today operates as expeditiously as the first Parliament did 97 years ago when the rule was first made that no business could be carried on unless at least 20 members were in the House. But many voters are beginning to have their doubts.

In the Corner Pocket

THE MOVE TO LOWER THE legal minimum age of poolroom patrons from 18 to 16 should find few objectors, particularly if the reduction applies only to billiard parlors at street level open to public view.

It is difficult to see that such premises are any less moral than others frequented by youth today—the back booths of cafes, the theatres, the bowling alleys or any similar public accommodation.

The fact is that most poolrooms have changed vastly from what they used to be in grandfather's day. And so have most 16-year-olds.

"YIPPEEEEE!"

IN CANADA'S ARCTIC

By MAURICE WESTERN

Who Are the Pioneers?

RESOLUTE, near-neighbor nowadays of the nomadic North Magnetic Pole, is the desolate, improbable and accidental "capital" of the Queen Elizabeth Islands. It is an air base and a complex of weather and scientific stations ruling over outlying weather stations from Mould Bay on Prince Patrick Island to Alert at the northeastern corner of Ellesmere.

Western

No one planned in the first instance to go to Resolute, which had long been abandoned even by the Eskimos. As in the last century, when the search for the Franklin expedition provoked a great burst of exploratory activity in the high Arctic, man proposed and the ice disposed. The ship (and ice-breaker) that set off in 1947 for winter harbor on Melville Island was blocked by the pack and put in to Resolute Bay.

The eastern Arctic has this advantage: a limited accessibility by sea. How limited we discovered in our brief stay at Resolute. On Aug. 23 it was more or less summer (34 degrees outside the over-heated buildings) and an oil tanker lay in the bay with winter supplies.

But a fickle wind had piled ice against the shore delaying off-loading to the critical point. When we left, dynamite crews were making last efforts to break up the barrier; if they failed, the tanker would depart for Winik on Hudson Bay leaving Resolute to get along as well as it could with present supplies and whatever could be air-lifted to Cornwallis Island.

Lard and Tea

Farther south at Cambridge Bay, we were surprised by the number of Eskimos thronging the Hudson Bay store. They were not, as it turned out, drawn by the sudden appearance in their town of so many eminent figures from the business and diplomatic world. Word had merely gone around that after lean weeks the store had on hand a supply of lard and tea. Because of bad ice conditions, only one supply ship had arrived this year and she had the assistance of an ice-breaker.

Yet for men and small loads almost any Arctic point is accessible to those who fly increasingly versatile aircraft. The men who fly geologists into the back-of-beyond do not even ask for airstrips; they take a few passes with their Beavers and bump down on the gravelly terrain.

Even more at home are the pilots of the helicopters who, limited only by the short range of their craft, take off from land or water and come down almost anywhere.

When the white man went into the postwar high north he took his comforts with him. Resolute, like the Dew Line stations, suggests a monastery with push buttons. This astonishing development has had strange consequences for the immigrant Eskimos whose nearby village, with its co-operative store and school, is a success story for which the northern affairs people give full credit to a single, dedicated RCMP officer.

The concept of money as a store of value is foreign to a people of the hunting economy where security was measured in implements or caches of food. What the Eskimo earns he spends, emulating the white man by filling his simple home with an incredible array of radios, washing machines, hi-fi sets, even tape recorders.

Startling Contrasts

The contrasts are startling. One home may be neat and tidy (except usually for the back kitchen) while its neighbor is a domestic jungle. Chaos starts at the kitchen door. Still half-nomadic, the Eskimo sees no point in gathering things together. The clutter of his throw-aways disfigures the community and extends down to the beach.

Not far off the white man does the same thing with his oil drums. Clutter is one of the marks of the Arctic coasts.

One has the impression at times of stumbling upon a third solitude in northern Canada. By long tradition the company draws its servants from Scotland. By equally long tradition, the Anglican missionaries come directly from England—few have ever seen the south. The Roman Catholic Oblate Fathers are almost all Belgians or French. English or Commonwealth accents are to be heard even on the Dew-Line which is operated by an American company. Many nurses, social workers, even government employees, the only eye specialist in the territories, are English.

Stay at Home

An exception is the RCMP which seems to draw heavily on the prairie provinces.

This may be a superficial observation. But at Whitehorse a civic official (a Scot) began his speech by asking who the modern pioneers are. They seem, disproportionately to be Britons in the north. New Canadians in the south. The complaint is that Old Canadians stay at home.

Mr. Goldwater's Line

BENEATH a facade of monolithic unity, the Goldwater camp is bitterly split over basic tactics with the Presidential campaign now in full swing.

The dispute: shall the Senator continue to hammer out a hard line of nuclear preparedness or shall he revert to the non-militaristic program of domestic conservatism that originally earned him the title of Mr. Conservative?

What makes this more than a routine squabble over strategy is the atmosphere of despair now beginning to pervade the Goldwater high command. His top hands know the Senator is running badly. They feel he must soon change his pace if he is to avoid shattering defeat. Thus, conflicting solutions to Goldwater's problems are pressed with an air of urgency.

Unofficial Chief

On top at the moment are conservative intellectuals and theories who are scoffed at by Goldwater politicians as "would-be militarists." Their unofficial chief is shrewd, congenial William Baroody, head of the non-profit American enterprise institute and long a Goldwater intimate. Though not officially listed on any Goldwater table of organization, Baroody is today Goldwater's top campaign policy-maker.

Baroody and his conservative eggheads are primarily responsible for the heavy dose of Goldwater talk about nuclear power and strong NATO alliance. Experienced politicians in the Goldwater organization weren't even consulted before Goldwater proposed that NATO be given its own "conventional" nuclear arms in his major address before the VFW in Cleveland Aug. 25.

The politicians want this to change immediately. For one thing, they feel Goldwater's talk about nuclear megatonnage loss and the NATO alliance has as much relevancy for the voting public as a Bach organ concert. One confidential voter survey conducted for Goldwater headquarters shows a surprising rank-and-file ignorance about what NATO stands for, much less what it is.

In the eyes of these politicians, far worse than the danger of confusing voters is the disaster of frightening them.

"I've told Barry that if I were him, I'd drop the word nuclear from my vocabulary for the rest of the campaign," confides one well-known Republican politician.

Others agree, including many of his own staff—convinced that Sen. Goldwater is playing right into President Johnson's hands. They fear any more nuclear talk would lose the "baby-buggy" vote. Apprehensive young mothers simply would not take a chance on Goldwater.

Domestic Matters

The politicians want the Senator to start talking about domestic matters—excoriating high Federal taxes and the encroaching Federal government and taking advantage of the spiritual discontent that afflicts many Americans at a time of material plenty. This, plus whatever help the white backlash may give, is no sure road to the White House. But to Goldwater's politicians, it makes more sense than waving nuclear bombs.

Even before the San Francisco convention, veteran politicians were advising Goldwater to steer clear of nuclear talk. If he didn't heed their advice then, why should he now?

One reason is the constant turmoil within the Goldwater camp. Apart from the Senator's inner circle of old comrades from Arizona, nobody can be sure exactly where he stands. Bill Baroody is all-powerful today but may not be tomorrow.

In this atmosphere of flux, Washington lawyer Edward McCabe (a middle-level White House aide in the Eisenhower days) has emerged from relative obscurity to become one of his top advisers as chief research man.

Moderate Conservative

A moderate rather than a militant conservative, McCabe might be more inclined to side with the politicians in steering clear of the nuclear issue. Moreover, he has the confidence of Arizonaan Delmon Kitchel—still Goldwater's closest aide.

Moreover, Goldwater's kick-off campaign speech at Prescott, Arizona, last Thursday is a sign that the politicians may at last be getting the upper hand. For the first time, the emphasis was away from the bomb and toward domestic concerns (particularly terror in the streets). It could be a portent of things to come.

As Our Readers See It

Part of the Conspiracy

The Christian foundation of the Union Jack, a combination of the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick, which is the living part of Canada's national flag, the Red Ensign, has been attacked by a minority of Canadians who, because of a particular unwarranted position, now appear to control the Government of Canada.

Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain have not found these symbols of Christianity so burdensome that they are prepared to replace them with meaningless bunting. Nor are the Moslem nations of Algeria, Turkey, Libya and Pakistan intriguing to remove from their flags the Crescent and Star because of religious significance.

For many years a highly-placed group in Canadian financial circles has worked quietly—but steadily—to weaken our Commonwealth relations in favor of increased participation in the United Nations, to cast doubt on our loyalty to the Queen and finally to make Canada a republic. If we are going to put an end to this sort of thing, let us start by saving our national flag, the Red Ensign. If we fail to act together with determination, we will deserve what is being planned for us.

Bible Not Myth

Your correspondent "Seneca" would like to know which version of the Bible I use in my criticism of the Baptist and United Church Sunday School Curriculum. I use them all, with the exception, perhaps, of the Revised Standard Version, of which I do not have a copy of the Old Testament. But I find the story and the inspiration in all versions, preferably, perhaps, the grand old Authorized Version: I believe our Lord most likely had access to the Aramaic and the Septuagint versions.

I have yet to find any version which rates the first eleven chapters of Genesis mythological, or denies the Flood as universal, or Noah as the builder of the Ark. Our Lord vouches for these facts, as He does for Jonah and the Whale; and He quotes from Isaiah without trying to find two such prophets.

I have no truck with J. or P. or P.J., or D—I cannot find any of them in any version I have yet come across. Perhaps Seneca would tell me in which version he finds these "letter" gentlemen. I wonder if Seneca has come across Ivan Panin's "Numerical English New Testament," and his work on the Numerics of the Old Testament, Hebrew Version.

Both 'Saved the Day'

Replying to Mr. McMurray's letter to you concerning the item "Ypres Honors Pats Who Saved the Day," which appeared in your issue of Aug. 28.

Surely the executive and members of the Red Chevron Association are not contemplating making an issue of just who saved the day at Ypres in the spring of 1915. Which day?

It is a matter of common knowledge and historical record that the Second Battle of Ypres comprises two separate operations: The gas attack, and German thrust against the lines held by the 1st

Cdn. Div. between 22 to 27 April, 1915; the German attacks at Frezenberg between 6 to 9 May, 1915, on new defences taken up by the Patricia's and other units of the 80th Bde. of the 7th Imperial Div. of which they (Patricia's) were a part, as explained by Mr. McMurray.

Mr. McMurray refers to the Patricia's as a unit of the 80th Bde. at Frezenberg. This unit is very proud of this fact. They maintained their Canadian identity at all times during their posting with the elite of the British Army.

As a member of the Patricia's at Frezenberg, I am of the opinion that the association gained as a unit of the 80th Bde., formed one of the cornerstones for the great spirit and traditions so much in evidence as part of the unit at the present time.

As an ex-member and ex-president of the Red Chevron Association I have attended and supervised a number of their annual gatherings to commemorate the action of the 1st Cdn. Div. at the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres. Never, to my knowledge has there been any misunderstanding amongst the members attending as to the significance of the occasion.

The honor of "Saving the Day" during the 22nd-25th operation belongs to the 1st Cdn. Div. To the Patricia's goes the honor of "Saving the Day" at Frezenberg.

Make Industry Pay

In a letter of Aug. 19 in the Times, it was suggested taxpayers contribute to the cost of alleviating our smoke nuisance in Victoria.

This of course is just what industry would welcome and possibly desire us to do.

I, for another taxpayer, would most certainly refuse to co-operate in this respect in assisting industry to overcome their smoke and cinder problem and nuisance at the taxpayers' expense.

Home-owners (taxpayers), businesses, stores, hotels, motels, cafes, etc., etc., must finance their own compliance with city bylaws regardless of costs, whether or not it can be afforded. Why then should industry be exempted? I have proof other cities do not exempt such and they must comply with the city bylaws or are charged with violations just as any other citizen in respect to any law violation.

Furthermore, why have we employed a full-time inspector to see that smoke bylaws are carried out if the bylaws are not enforced?

Perhaps someone could enlighten me.

'Tin Can Alley'

There, I've cooled down a bit. Its been three weeks since I spent a most agreeable week in Victoria, studying at your fine new Gordon Head campus.

Coming off the ferry there was a magnificent rainbow over the water. A fitting entrance to the Island, I thought smugly, prepared for that good combination of old and new that makes Victoria such a wonderful place to visit.

Coming in toward Douglas Street—well! that was a different story. What are they running along that road, a second-hand bargain basement?

Never have I seen a lovely city so plastered with signs. They were even on the roofs!

By way of contrast, there was a gas station at the entrance to the Gordon Head campus that was a credit to the city. It was both beautiful and dignified and yet it was a fully-outfitted service station.

Of course, after you stay in Victoria a while the first awful impression is forgotten, but when you go to leave, away you go down tin-can alley again, and all those lovely impressions are ruined.

There ought to be a law!

... REPORTING

OTTAWA — The American drive to land a man on the moon is opening a way for Canada to get deeper into aero-space operations.

At the moment the government is considering a recommendation from the National Research Council that NRC take over operation of the rocket range at Fort Churchill, Man., from the United States Air Force. USAF proposes to phase out of Churchill and other peripheral projects to devote more money and manpower to the moon project.

Concurrently the Defence Research Board is planning to orbit its second satellite, Alouette II, from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California by mid-1965. This will be followed, in 1967, by the first of a new series of three Canadian "Isis" satellites. Like Alouette I, which is still telemetering scientific data back to earth after nearly two years in space, the new satellites will be automated laboratories for research into space conditions and phenomena.

In addition, there is strong Canadian interest in the proposed international telecommunications satellite, and in the U.S. weather satellite program, especially a plan to orbit a north polar satellite.

The establishment at Churchill, which grew out of a military rocket development and testing, is financed by the U.S. and operated on behalf of USAF by Pan-American Airways. The proposal is that NRC replace USAF under a five-year agreement that would see the U.S. paying half the $4.5 millions annual operating cost, and Canada the other half.

The governing body of the National Research Council met in special session here on Aug. 28 and agreed that the NRC should take over the pocket range, although some of its members questioned whether Canada couldn't spend the money more advantageously in other scientific fields.

"There is no assurance we can proceed," says Dr. B. G. Ballard, president of NRC. "It's a question of funds being made available. The council is discussing the matter with the Treasury Board, and while there's no deadline, the U.S. will withdraw from operating the range next June, and it would be then that Canada would have to take over."

If the project goes through, Pan-American likely will continue as the prime contractor because there is no Canadian agency or company with experience in such operations. About 75 per cent of the range personnel are Canadians.

While much of the scientific work at the Churchill range is American, Canadian scientists of NRC, DRB and some universities have conducted programs there.

As one informed source put it, "Canada has a special responsibility for auroral research, because the aurora is pretty much a Canadian phenomenon." The lines of terrestrial magnetic force curve down to the North Magnetic Pole in Viscount Melville Sound, making the Canadian Arctic the ideal place for auroral studies. Consequently, Canadian scientists have established a world reputation for work in relation to the ionosphere.

Now the government has an opportunity to take over the American operation at Churchill with facilities valued at $9 millions and operate it for the benefit of this country, our allies and all mankind.

This won't win votes like, say, a new post office. But the long view suggests it's a lot more important.

Wilson Says He'll Hike Wage Rates

BLACKPOOL, England (Reuters) — Labor Party Leader Harold Wilson hit out at the Conservative government's incomes policy in a major pre-election speech here Monday.

He told 1,000 trade union delegates that if elected, the Labor party will conduct a planned expansion of incomes related to rising productivity. "Because we do not regard wages as the whipping boy of a bankrupt economic policy we shall not, as a matter of policy, hold production down, cripple productivity and then try to cut the wages system to fit it," he said.

He said that what Labor asked for in wages and salaries would apply equally to profit and dividends and income from rents.

"We shall not create a free-for-all for the speculator, the land profiteer and the landlord, and then ask wage and salary earners alone to show a concern for the national interest that others are not required to show," he said.

'Norpac' Triangle Developing

By DON HANRIGHT

TOKYO (CP) — A North Pacific triangle of Canada, the United States and Japan, is becoming "increasingly visible," External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said here Monday.

He called for close consultation among the three countries to help assure Asian peace and stability required for their large three-way trade.

Martin also noted that in this partnership Japan and Canada could make their voices more effective "both with regard to our common interests in the Pacific and to world questions as a whole."

He spoke to the Canada-Japan Society shortly before departing for Ottawa after a week in Japan, chiefly for a ministerial conference.

Returning with him were Trade Minister Sharp and Fisheries Minister Robichaud. Finance Minister Gordon remained in Tokyo for the meeting this week of the International Monetary Fund.

On Sunday, Martin flew to Hiroshima where he toured the Museum of the Atomic Bomb.

In a brief address there, Martin said he thought there was "something symbolic" in Japan's choice of a man born on the day the Hiroshima bomb was dropped to carry the torch at the Olympics in Tokyo in October.

"To me this gesture underlines the determination of all Japanese people to forward the cause of peace," Martin said. "It epitomizes the hope that a new generation will make a new start and bring to a weary and waiting world the flame of revolution and dedication."

In his Tokyo speech, Martin suggested that Japan and Canada are in "a chosen position to awaken the world to the possibilities of constructive interdependence."

The trade ties between North America and Japan were of vital and growing significance. "This mutually profitable trade requires the continued existence of stable and peaceful conditions in the world and in this Pacific region particularly."

Show Entry Deadline Today

No sooner is Labor Day past, than we have the fall flower show and horticultural exhibition to look forward to at the Curling Rink on Quadra Street. This is an annual affair of Victoria Horticultural Society. It has been staged for more than 25 years.

HILDA

A few weeks ago we were urging you to try your gardening hand at exhibiting the results of the summer's work, and today is the deadline for entries.

There is still time to decide on visiting the show on Friday and Saturday of this week, and judging by the activity going on in various directions there should be plenty to see.

All the flowers, fruits and vegetables of our generous fall season will be represented, creating a scene in the expanse of the Curling Rink not to be rivalled anywhere in the Pacific Northwest.

MORE SCOPE

Long-time residents of Victoria will be interested in noting the improvements in scope and staging of this show, as well as the high quality of exhibits.

Newcomers and tourist visitors are likely to find much to amaze them, for the commercial exhibits will be featuring many aspects of gardening open to the amateur enthusiast.

Garden lighting, a greenhouse, and a great variety of plants and bulbs to add beauty to local gardens for literally every month of the year—all this can be seen and examined in a leisurely way at the show.

It will be open to the public from 2 p.m. until 10 p.m. on Friday, and from 10:30 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. on Saturday.

The best investment of the fall season—50 cents admission, and stay as long as you like for refreshments are available on the spot.

Gov't Plans to Fight N. Saanich Rezoning

A 430-lot housing development proposed for North Saanich will go to a public hearing with the determined opposition of government planners.

The hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. Sept. 15 in North Saanich Senior Secondary School.

Hagar and Swayne Ltd. has applied for rezoning of the old

Montford estate near John Dean Park from rural to residential zoning.

The firm plans a multi-million dollar Uplands-style development.

"Taking 412 acres from the centre of the rural area and making it urban would entirely destroy the rural proposals for North Saanich," said a government planner.

Dr. A. B. Nash, chairman of the North Saanich Advisory Planning Commission, says his group has prepared confidential recommendations on the proposal for Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell.

He would not say what they were.

But he said the commission has "approved and endorsed" the development plan prepared by the Capital Region Planning Board.

The plan was prepared by the CPRB last year at the request of Dr. Nash's group, and is not yet official.

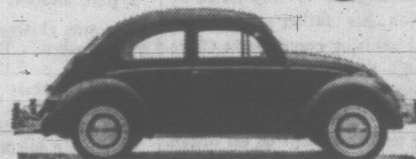

It encourages urban development only in areas which are extensions of existing urban areas.

If approval is not granted on the Hagar and Swayne rezoning, the housing scheme would become impractical.

Present regulations would allow only about 200 homes on the tract.

Victorians "stand to lose hundreds of thousands of dollars" if the application is rejected, says David McAdams, real estate manager for Hagar and Swayne.

What is a Volkswagen 1500 ?

All this And more.

The Volkswagen 1500 is the other car in our life. It's got all the nice things that made the beetle famous. Engine in the rear for better traction. No radiator to freeze or boil. Low gas consumption. And a design that never changes. And the VW 1500 gives you a lot more. It's a Volkswagen with more power, more room and more looks. It goes from a standing start to 50 mph in 12 seconds. Our station wagon is big enough to carry a bathtub or 14,600 bars of soap. The sedan is so roomy it's got two trunks. With the VW 1500 you get sports car power and family car room. Sort of a family sports car. That's the Volkswagen 1500. It's more Volkswagen than any other Volkswagen.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Chile Election Heats Up Copper

The Toronto stock market continued to advance in moderate trading today with speculative prices lower. Prices moved fractionally upward at Montreal and in New York, strength in copper featured an irregularly higher market.

Also at New York the Dow Jones Industrial average hit a new high of 851.82, up 3.51.

Chilean stocks lacked any significant movement. Banks and insurance suffered small losses. Industrials lost ground, and leaders to weaken included United Steel, Guest Keen, Tube Investment, Courtauld, AEC, Marks and Spencer, Associated Cement and ICI.

Turner and Newall were dull. Elsewhere, Bowater was a few pence lower.

AT TORONTO in utilities, Greater Winnipeg Gas, Calgary Power and Canadian Industrial Gas all gained 1/4, while CPR rose 1/4. Inland Natural Gas reached a new high of 8 1/2 with a rise of 1/4.

Shares featured gains of 1/4 to Loblaws and M. Loeb, and a one-cent advance to Canada Packers B. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Montreal both advanced 1/4 among banks, while Consolidated and Price Brothers rose 1/4 in papers.

AT MONTREAL Dominion Glass added 1/4, and CPR, Imperial Oil, Industrial Acceptance and Price Bros. 1/4 each. Noranda lost 1/4, Asbestos 1/4 and Aluminum and Bell 1/4 each. In speculative mines Dominion Explorers jumped 16 1/2 cents to 34 1/2 cents on news that the company has acquired land on the French Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon where they are to drill for oil and gas.

AT NEW YORK Anaconda was up 3 points as it celebrated defeat of a leftist candidate in Chile who, it elected president, would have expropriated Anaconda's and Kennecott's property there. Anaconda opened late on a big bloc of 73,000 shares and looked like the day's volume leader.

AT VANCOUVER, trading was moderate. Bethlehem Copper was down at $7.45 and Butte Lake at $6.1. Endako climbed to $8.95 and Copper Ridge to .70. Western Mines was up at $4.80 and Inland Gas at $8.50.

$84 Million Plant Sold in Record Deal

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia signed a $84,000,000 contract Monday to buy a fibre plant from a British firm in the biggest single deal in Anglo-Soviet trading history.

The agreement was signed in London by V. O. Techmashimport, a Russian purchasing agency, and Polyspinners Limited of Britain.

They signed the first part of a contract covering the supply of the major part of a polyester fibre plant to Russia.

The new factory will be built at Krasnoyarsk in Siberia. Occupying an area well over 50 acres and employing 3,500 persons, it will produce about 50,000 tons of polyester fibre a year.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flax prices declined in moderately active trade on the grain exchange today. Unfavorable harvest weather continued to limit offerings of other grains and hold prices fairly steady.

Selling in flax was prompted by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimate of a larger Canadian flax crop than had been expected in the trade.

New Political Storm In U.K. Over Aviation

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—A new political - aviation row blew up today - just as thousands assembled to see the pride of British aviation at Farnborough.

Two developments touched off what appears to be a fresh, and bitter, general election issue.

—A Labor party protest that publication of the 1963-64 accounts for the nationalized British Overseas Airways Corporation, said to show a £10,000,000 profit, is being delayed for political reasons.

—A blunt "I was fired" statement by Sir Matthew Slattery, BOAC chairman for most of this apparently successful financial year.

Slattery implied that Aviation Minister Julian Amery, son-in-law of former prime minister Harold Macmillan, made him a "scapegoat" for government blunders.

An unfortunate aspect is that the new controversy involving Amery, renewing attacks that started in Parliament earlier, coincides with the Farnborough Air Show which has attracted some 10,000 overseas visitors.

HOPES ARE HIGH

Britain's troubled aircraft industry, fighting tough competition from the United States, has high hopes for the show, first two years, in which 10 new aircraft types are being demonstrated. They include the Super-VC-10 intercontinental jet - jet airliner which figured in the earlier controversy.

The Labor charge now is that Amery is holding back publication of the accounts until after the election because they would show Slattery's policies were finally getting BOAC, which is £80,000,000 in debt, into the black. Slattery, 62, was replaced by Sir Giles Guthrie, 48, a merchant-banker.

Slattery's statement was the first time he spoke out since last November's uproar when he left BOAC.

"I was fired," he said at the Farnborough show Monday. "I was told I was not wanted after July. I think it was because I fought the minister."

"The minister said he wanted a younger man. I could not speak until my original contract expired on July 29. I feel perfectly free to speak now."

Contending that no government would "get BOAC right" until it defined policy clearly, Slattery, a former admiral, said his successor was told to be concerned with profits.

'PURPOSE FORGOTTEN'

"That is not what the nationalized airlines were set up to do," he added. "They were set up ... because the country was concerned we were not getting our share of international aviation, the carrying trade."

Sir Matthew said nationalized organizations were planned to support the British aircraft industry and open up the world, particularly the Commonwealth, for British aviation. He added:

"Until three years ago there was a wonderful partnership between the chairman of BOAC and successive ministers. They understood the real purpose of the nationalized airlines and gave a market for the British aircraft industry. This worked very well until the senior partner, the government, rattled."

Sir Matthew's predecessor, the late Sir Gerard d'Erlanger, ordered the VC-10 and agreed to look for 50 per cent of Atlantic traffic. The policy resulted in losses that, taken over 15 years, were not excessive. But the government tried to repudiate responsibility.

Labor air spokesman John Cronin, an unrelenting critic of Amery, said "it looks as if they are trying to keep the accounts under the rug until the election is over. I suspect it is because the figures will show Mr. Amery's policy towards BOAC has been absolute nonsense."

SLATTERY ... 'I was fired'

Clam-Digging Ruled Out In North

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fisheries department officials closed the entire coastal area north of V. I. to commercial clam diggers.

They warned that clams dug along the northern coast are dangerous because of the high levels of toxic material in the clams, believed caused by plankton.

Officials issued the warning after tests were made on clams taken from the mouth of the Skeena River. They reported 1,920 micrograms of toxic material per gram of meat were found in the clams.

Officials said that is enough to make most people violently sick and could, in a rare case, cause death. Safe level is about 80 micrograms.

Accidents Kill 101

TORONTO (CP)—At least 101 persons died in accidents across Canada during the Labor Day weekend, with 79 persons dying in traffic accidents—four more than the 75 road deaths predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council and six more than last year's record 73.

FIRST MAJOR U.S. ELECTION SKIRMISHES

Johnson Raps Barry Over N-Arms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Candidates on both sides of the U.S. political fence have fired volleys on such issues as nuclear weapons control, taxes and civil rights in the first major skirmishing of the 1964 presidential election campaign.

President Johnson took sharp issue with Republican nominee Barry Goldwater on the question of nuclear weapons control in a Labor Day address in Detroit Monday.

And in Indiana and Ohio the vice-presidential nominees, Republican Representative William E. Miller of New York and Democratic Senator H. Humphrey of Minnesota jockeyed, respectively, on taxes and civil rights among other things.

Goldwater didn't mix into the scrap Monday.

Johnson spoke at an AFL-CIO sponsored Labor Day rally in Detroit's Cadillac Square.

There was little doubt he was aiming shafts at Goldwater when he moved to the subject of nuclear weapons control.

Goldwater, in an Aug. 25 speech, had suggested a way be found to provide NATO with small, tactical nuclear weapons for battle field use, weapons which he said "may truly be called conventional weapons."

"Make no mistake," Johnson said Monday. "There is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon."

'POLITICAL DECISION'

He said the judgment to use nuclear weapons is "a political decision of the highest order."

"No president of the United States can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

Miller, campaigning in Indiana, told a Labor Day audience in South Bend that working men would benefit from a Republican administration through tax cuts and protection of jobs from foreign competition.

He said the Johnson administration is advocating immigration policies that would "open the floodgates" for foreign people seeking jobs in the United States.

Miller also pledged a series of tax cuts so that government "takes progressively less of the fruits of your labor."

Humphrey, campaigning in Ohio, told a Youngstown press conference he was concerned over the future of civil rights should Goldwater be elected. He said this concern arose because Goldwater not only voted against the 1964 Civil Rights Act, "he denounced it."

NORWEGIAN FLEET

The Norwegian merchant fleet passed the 14,000,000 gross tons mark in July—a net increase of 341,000 tons since Jan. 1.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate attacked Goldwater throughout the day as being out of step not only with his own party but with the age.

Ottawa to Examine Two-Ship Collision

ST. JOSEPH DE LA RIVE, Que. (CP)—Federal investigators will open an inquiry this week, probably Wednesday, into the two-ship collision on the St. Lawrence River Saturday night that left one seaman dead and two others missing and presumed drowned.

The 12,000-ton ore carrier Lecliff Hall sank while attempts were being made to tow it ashore, about four hours after it collided in heavy fog and rain with the Greek freighter Apollonia near this bleak north shore village, 65 miles below Quebec City.

The inquiry will be held in Montreal but details have yet to be worked out. A spokesman said the inquiry would probably open Wednesday.

Although her bow was damaged, the 6,640-ton Apollonia sailed under her own steam to the Levis shipyard, where repairs will be made. Levis is across the St. Lawrence from Quebec City.

Postage Stamps Honor John F. Kennedy

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (EN)—A very unusual series of large diamond shaped postage stamps honoring John F. Kennedy was issued recently by the Kingdom of Yemen . . . half the stamp bears a striking portrait of JFK with appropriate inscription—the top section depicts American space craft in flight . . . This very unusual set of three stamps sold out day of issue and are now quite scarce.

Because of the intense interest in JFK memorial stamps issued by foreign nations, Elmont has prepared a collection containing recently issued John F. Kennedy stamps from Colombia, Argentina, Chile, and Togo, plus the popular Yemen set mentioned above.

Interested collectors may obtain this extraordinary collection of 9 different stamps memorializing John F. Kennedy by sending $1.00 to Elmont Stamp Co., Queens Village 29, N.Y. Approvals and other offers included.

MAN HURT IN FALL FROM SEAPLANE'S WING

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 49-year-old businessman was severely injured during the weekend when he fell off the wing of an amphibian plane as it taxied ashore.

Gordon Pallen of Vancouver was in critical condition in hospital.

Pallen and John Hames were reported to have climbed onto the wing to balance the aircraft, which had a punctured pontoon.

Both men fell when the plane struck an object near the seaplane ramp at Vancouver International Airport.

Pallen was taken to hospital with what appeared to be minor injuries. But he collapsed in hospital and was reported suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Ask Andy

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Keith-Damin, age 10, of San Diego, Calif., for his question:

What causes our eye pupils to dilate?

Your head is fitted with two little built-in cameras. They are, of course, your two bright eyes, and they are far better than the best of man-made cameras. They can outdo a whole studio full of cameras made to take miles and miles of colored movies indoors and out.

Man-made cameras can take photographs only if the scenery is flooded with bright light. Your eyes can take pictures of the scenery in bright light, under cloudy skies and even at dusk when the light is very dim. They adjust themselves to different amounts of light by changing the size of the pupils, those two round black holes in the centre of the colored part of the eyes. What's more, the pupils adjust to different amounts of light by themselves—without waiting for you to order them to do so.

You can watch how this happens by studying your eyes in a small mirror. If you are outdoors in the bright noon-day sun, you will see that the pupils are small black dots. If you stare for a while into a dark corner, the mirror will reflect large black pupils. The pupils will stay large only for a short while; then light reflected from the shiny mirror will cause them to shrink again.

The pupil of the human eye acts like the shutter of a camera. It is actually a hole in the iris, the colored part of the eye. Light, carrying a picture of the scenery, passes through the pupil, through the centre of the eyeball, and falls upon a screen called the retina, which is on the back inside wall of the eye. The retina has about a million tiny nerve cells that sort out the picture into patches of color, light and dark. These cells flash their information to the brain which assembles the pieces and shows you the scenery.

Sensitive

The colored iris is a movable muscle. It can squeeze tight, making the pupil small. It can relax, making the round dark pupil larger. When the light is normal, the pupil is about half-open—half its full size. When the light is very strong, the retina screen must be protected, for it can be damaged by vivid brilliance and some of its cells destroyed forever. So the pupil contracts to its smallest size. In the darkness the pupil dilates to its fullest size to catch as much of the glimmering light as possible.

Just behind the pupil is a lens somewhat like a small magnifying glass. Certain eye muscles can make the lens thin or thick in order to bring objects into focus. When you look at a close object the lens is thick. For distant viewing the lens is flat and thin. By focusing the lens and by adjusting the size of the pupil, the human eye can improve the quality of its pictures a million times, and all without any instructions from the conscious mind.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Richard Hess, age 11, of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., for his question:

How large an object can a whale swallow?

The large assortment of whales is divided into two main groups—the toothed whales and the baleen whales. The famous sperm whale is a toothed whale, and he has monstrous toothy jaws to prove it. He and his kind hunt live meat in the sea. They chomp off great hunks of large fish and swallow each bite whole. Mr. Sperm Whale can gobble up a giant squid in a few giant-size gulps.

The baleen whales have mouths fitted with curtains of baleen or whalebone. This plastic-like material hangs in long strips and filters, fragments of plankton from the sea. The baleen whales, the largest animals in the world, dine only on plankton. Most plankton plants and animals are microscopic, the largest are shrimp-size. A baleen whale can swallow nothing larger than a shrimp or small fish.

Yes, but not without harm to their stomachs. They can't digest these articles, and eating them can lead to death. For some reason, they try to eat foreign objects that most other animals would reject.

'Uptown' Merchants Group Urged

A campaign to form an Uptown Merchants' Association started last week.

A. G. Coning, manager of Mayfair shopping centre, sent letters to 115 business firms north of Bay Street and south of Cloverdale Avenue.

Formation of the new group, intended to balance the influence of the long-established Downtown Business Association, grew out of a meeting of the Mayfair Merchants' Association.

In his letter, Mr. Coning emphasized that "there is no suggestion that the association is proposed to oppose the downtown businesses and merchants, but it is felt that a little healthy competition would do us all good."

Mr. Coning said the association should "study problems of mutual interest in this area, encourage development, publicize the advantages of uptown businesses and merchandising, and present a united front in matters of local interest."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I've never understood the actors' honor of "closing the show" . . . but Dick Gregory did a sit-in in his dressing room at Basin St. E. the other night to attain it . . . and eventually Frances Faye, his top-billed co-star, opened the show, after being tricked into it, in a nice way.

"Dick's probably lost in a riot . . . won't you get things started . . . we're an hour late . . . honey, baby, dear?" one of the bosses said, prevaricating slightly.

"I imagine Dick's at a Holy Roller meeting," Frances laughed when she went on, unaware that he was in his dressing room sitting it out.

"Don't think it's just prestige," Dick explained to me. "I always close the show. I've never warmed up an audience for somebody else. You have more time."

Dick told me he's unconcerned about billing, and that in Atlantic City last week, when the clubs made no money, he worked without pay. "But I close the show . . ."

So he won, momentarily, though by the time the second show came around and Frances had opened it, there was no time for Dick to perform . . . and he and everybody went home. Thus in a way Frances opened the second show, and closed it, too.

Dick kidded both parties, claiming BG wants to move to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue "because he thinks 1600 is a good year," and adding that J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI tap his phones so much that he sometimes calls wild numbers just to confuse them. He claims an FBI voice speaks up, "Hey, cool it, man, we're runnin' out of tape!"

The Beatles have a delightful sense of humor. George Martin, who signed them for records and is now a United Artists instrumental star in his own right, tells me that in an interview, they were asked, "Do you bite your nails?" The answer was "Just our toenails."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL. An Italian magazine offered 10 million lire ($16,000) for a photo of Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner together. (Their previous high was $8,000 for a shot of Liz and Burton smooching).

'Ports Best In B.C.

Hot Hurlers
Major Asset

Transport Workers are rich in quality and quantity and the combination has carried them to their second straight B.C. senior baseball championship.

City champions and winners of the Victoria Senior Amateur League title, Transports had too much of everything for their three rivals in the three-day provincial tournament at Royal Athletic Park. They scored 33 runs and yielded only four as they grabbed the crown with three straight victories.

Transports were particularly wealthy in the most precious asset of tournament baseball—pitching. Each of their three starting pitchers went the route.

Veteran hurler Art Worth did the honors in the final game Monday, spinning an eight-hitter while Transports were unleashing a 23-hit barrage to demolish Prince Rupert Merchants 13-4.

BISHOP STARTED IT

Steve Bishop started them off on the right track in Saturday's opening as he pitched a 10-1 triumph over Victoria Greaves Movers and Les Brice, followed Sunday with perhaps the finest hurling effort of the tourney. Brice was in command all the way as he doled out six hits and blanked Prince Rupert 10-0.

That loss sent Merchants into the semi-final round against Vernon Luckies who shunted Movers out of the double-loss tourney with a 6-3 Sunday victory.

Merchants made it to the final round Monday morning in an 8-7 squeaker as Gary Marshall pitched his second win. But Marshall is almost a one-man pitching staff and Merchants had no body left who had the talent to shackle the booming Transport bats.

Worth got away to a wobbly start in the final game, giving up three runs in the top half of the first inning.

WORTH BRILLIANT

Transports came back with three in their half of the frame and Worth swung a mighty bat as the Victoria club all but clinched the crown with a six-run outburst in the third inning.

Worth smashed a two-run homer to snap the 3-3 deadlock. Before the inning was over Bishop and Mike McAvoy had doubled, Norm Curran and Ron Karadimas had singled, John Yankoski had walked, Merchants had bobbled an infield bouncer and Worth had walked to force in a run.

Karadimas slammed five straight singles to pace the Transport attack. Bishop chipped in with two doubles and a single, Brice playing first base, poled a triple and two singles, and Harvey hit a single and double.

HARVEY NAMED MVP

Harvey, who ended the tournament with eight hits in 14 times at bat and played a solid series at second base, received the most-valuable-player award. Karadimas, who went eight for 12 in the three games, finished with a .667 batting mark and a trophy as the tourney's outstanding hitter.

Also well up in the voting were Marshall and Prince Rupert third baseman Bill Sundberg. A former city baseball ace also picked up an award during Monday's game. In a draw conducted by the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association, Ed Shepard, 210 Homer, won a 1964 automobile.

ART WORTH delivers the goods

THE MOMENT OF TRIUMPH . . .

Smile on his face tells eloquently how Jim Malloy, of Denver, Colo., felt after winning the fourth annual $5,000 Daffodil Cup for super modified cars at Western Speedway Monday night. Having a pretty girl near doesn't hurt either. For Wendy Vantreight there were mixed feelings. Her father's car, driven by Victoria's Al Smith, finished third.

There's Nothing Wrong With Harry's Thigh Now

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition Labor Day invitational track meet produced a sneak preview of most of the members of the east who will perform for Canada and the United States at the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo in October.

Heading the list was Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who is on a comeback campaign after missing most of the 1963 season because of an operation for a thigh injury.

The 24-year-old, five-foot-10 athlete hooked up with Edwin Roberts of Trinidad in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, each taking an event.

Jerome, who ran 10 seconds flat in the 100 in Saskatchewan in 1960 at the trials for the Rome Olympics, equalling the world record set in 1959 by Armin Hary of Germany, edged out Roberts in 9.3 seconds. His time was one-tenth of a second off the world outdoor record he shares with several other athletes.

Bruce Kidd of Toronto, who was beaten at last year's meet in the two-mile run by Chris Williamson of Fredericton, N.B., turned the tables with an impressive time of 8:47.8. Oscar Moore of New York was second and Williamson third.

Jenny Wingerson of Toronto, the pretty 21-year-old hurdles star who will compete in the pentathlon as well as the hurdles at Tokyo, showed the way in the women's division with what track officials said was the best performance of her career.

Miss Wingerson established a Canadian open and native record for the 80-metre hurdles, shaving two-fifths of a second off the old mark of 1:1.2 established by Sally McCallum of Vernon, B.C., at Vancouver in 1960.

Bill Crothers of Toronto, top Canadian middle distance runner, avenged an earlier defeat administered by Jan Underwood of California in the 880 by winning in 1:52.0. Underwood was second in 1:53.2.

Times for the mile were slow with John Vallant of Victoria, B.C., the Canadian 3,000-metre steeplechase champion, winning in 4:11.3. Ergas Lepa of Toronto, the Canadian native record holder, was second with the same time.

Jack Sparked Oak Bay Win
Oak Bay defeated Alcos in the Victoria and District Cricket Association Knockout Cup final at Beacon Hill Park, Saturday. Oak Bay scored 72 for 4 to Alcos 69.

Jack Sparks was 38 not out for Oak Bay, and Walter Tate took 6 wickets for 20 runs.

In play Sunday at Shawinigan Lake, Incogs won out over Cowichan, 81 to 77.

Denver Doodle Dandy Wins Daffodil Chase

Malloy Outlasts Foster, Smith Before 7,388 Fans

By HAL MALONE

Billy Foster was the favorite and the Geoff Vantreight family was in great demand, but a Yankee Doodle Dandy from Denver collected the gold and the glory.

This was the story of the fourth annual Daffodil Cup, the poor man's Indianapolis 500, at Western Speedway on the Labor Day weekend.

Nervous, articulate Jim Malloy, a 29-year-old pro from Denver, Colo., wheeled his red No. 5 super modified home first in both main events to win the richest ever ($5,000) run for the Daffs. Jim Roberts of Eugene, Ore., was second in Monday's 100-lap finale. Victoria's Al Smith was third.

A combined Saturday-Monday house of 12,588 saw Malloy parlay poise, power and purpose (plus some misfortune by Foster and Smith) to victory in Victoria's annual burned-rubber and ear-splitting classic.

A 13-year unscarred veteran of the horsepower saddle ("I lied about my age in the beginning—I was just 16"), Malloy collected approximately $825 for his weekend's perspiration. He also moved closer to $1,200 more —loot awarded the top point driver on the Canadian-American Modified Racing Association circuit.

There are three races left in the CAMRA campaign and Malloy will be going for the bundle in every one, barring mishap.

Foster, the No. 1 point man, will bypass all three for a ride on the United States Auto Club championship trail at Trenton, N.J., Sept. 15.

This was Foster's swan song at Western but all his notes came up sour. His ring gear went phfft Monday on the 65th lap forcing him to kiddle-car into 15th place.

Smith, perennially promising but consistently outlucked, had the lead and apparently only Malloy to worry about until the 90th lap.

'I'm Fine but Car Is Tired'—Foster

Then misfortune struck Vantreight's driver—a blow. Flames began seeping out of the rear of the mechanical beauty his daffodil boss hoped would collar the race he wanted most to win. With Smith "limping," Malloy fell heir to the lead and protected it tenderly to the tape.

Earlier the trio, Malloy, Foster and Smith, had the zealous off their hands and screaming. Smith took the lead after 10 laps, held it until the 41st with Foster and Malloy nipping at his heels.

Then Smith locked wheels with an also-ran and Foster capitalized on the gift horse staring him in the face. An accident on the 42nd lap brought the chariots to a temporary halt. On the restart Smith, Malloy and Foster went humming, stayed that way until the 61st lap.

Smith spun out on the 62nd, taking Malloy with him. Z-I-n-g went Foster into the hole. "W-h-e-e" went the crowd.

But as Foster feared his No. 27, suffering from fatigue brought on by a heavy schedule ("I'm fine," Foster said before the race, "but the car is tired") packed it up.

That put it up to Smith. But Al couldn't deliver either and Malloy had only to stay healthy to rake in the marbles. At that he had to play it cosy—he finished with a hole in his reserve oil tank.

For Foster, the disappointment was softened when VITRA made him a life member, only the second in history. (The first was Victorian Dave Cooper).

Geoff's Gloom Stacked $10,000 High

For bulb grower-racing addict Vantreight the gloom was as thick as a stack of 10,000 one-dollar bills. That's the sum he paid builder Grant King to put together a buggy that could whip Foster and everybody else.

The closest Vantreight came to the winner's circle Monday was when two of Pappa Geoff's delicious daughters paraded as trophy dash queens.

PIT PATTER . . . Malloy, Smith and Foster finished one-two-three in the A modified trophy dash . . . Wally Lum, Harold Sjöström and Dave Ferris finished in that order in B modified dash . . . # Ticats Trample Awful Argonauts

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats grabbed a share of first place in the Eastern Football Conference Monday by overpowering Toronto Argonauts 24-8 before 27,156 fans jamming Civic Stadium here for the annual Labor Day battle between the two clubs.

The victory, Hamilton's third of the season against two into a three-way tie with Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes. Argos remained in the EFC cellar with four straight losses after winning their season opener.

Veteran quarterback Bernie Faloney guided a well-balanced Ticat attack, passing for touchdowns by Tommy Grant and Hal Patterson and scoring another himself on a three-yard keeper play in the third quarter.

Don Sutherland added six points with a field goal, two converts and a single on a field goal attempt that went wide.

Jackie Parker, who saw limited action as a flanker for Toronto, scored Argos' only touchdown on a three-yard screen pass from quarterback Don Fuell with less than four minutes remaining in the game. Karl Sweetan converted the touchdown. . . . Dave Mann counted Toronto's only other point on a second-quarter kick that resulted in Ticats' Jackie Simpson being routed.

Fuell completed 13 of 35 passes, but was damped for losses half a dozen times and had four of his throws picked off by Hamilton defenders. Mann completed one, 30-yard pass for Argos on a third-down gamble that worked from Argos' 14-yard line in the second quarter.

Ottawa Roughriders bounced into Vancouver Monday with their eye on Joe Kapp, quarterback of the British Columbia Lions.

Kapp is the man to stop, said Rider coach Frank Clair in outlining his plans for tonight's Canadian Football League clash at Empire Stadium between Riders and Lions.

"B.C. has an explosive attack that can hurt you from anywhere in the field, and Kapp's arm and leadership constitute the biggest single reason."

In Calgary, meanwhile, the Stampede knocked Kenny Ploen out of action and the Lions out of first place Monday as they posted a 25-8 Western Football Conference victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

ONE-POINT MARGIN
The victory allowed Calgary to vault over idle B.C. into first place by a one-point margin. British Columbia has played two games less than the Cowboys.

Saskatchewan Roughriders stayed in third place, one point behind B.C., with a 22-0 whipping of Montreal Alouettes at Regina in an interlocking test.

Ploen, veteran Winnipeg quarterback, suffered a torn rib cartilage when tackled by a series of Stampede defenders during a running play. He likely will be idle about 10 days, a club doctor said.

Hal Ledyard took over after Ploen's injury and was in charge when Winnipeg did its scoring, in the third and fourth quarters.

Ted Woods, Bobby Taylor and Bruce Clardie scored Calgary touchdowns before 18,075 fans. Defensive back Larry Robinson added three converts, a single and a field goal.

Saskatchewan's convincing victory was recorded before a record crowd of 18,187 at Taylor Field. Previous high attendance was 18,153 for a game between Riders and British Columbia Lions, August 14.

Clutch Effort Helps Vicettes To B.C. Crown

Molson's Vicettes bounced back with one of their best efforts when the chips were down Monday at Central Park and brought the B.C. senior women's softball crown to Victoria for the second successive year.

Vicettes came up with some fine clutch hitting and sparkling fielding to defeat Vancouver Collingwood 3-0 in the deciding game of the four-team, double-loss elimination tournament.

Coach, Wally Yeaman's Vicettes, who had opened the tourney by clipping Collingwood 5-1 Saturday and entered the final round with an 8-2 conquest of Kamloops Cheviots Sunday, needed only one more victory as they faced the Vancouver club in Monday's final round.

But Collingwood, stayed in the running and forced a sudden-death title struggle by charging from behind for a 7-5 win.

Gall Archibald, who had pitched the opening-game victory over Vancouver, was staked to a 5-0 lead after two innings and appeared on her way to an another win.

SHAKY MOMENTS

But Vicettes had a couple of shaky moments in the field and suffered a few mental lapses and Collingwood tied the score with two runs in the fourth inning and three in the fifth.

Relief pitcher Marg Whitehead lowered the boom in the sixth frame, slamming a two-run double to provide the margin of victory.

Miss Archibald came back for the deciding game and although in trouble almost every inning but the seventh, she fired the big pitches when they were needed. Gall yielded nine hits but didn't hand out a single base on balls and her mates backed her with sharp support in the field.

Vicettes collected their three tallies on only four hits. Catcher Joy Speight doubled to score Elaine Penny in the first inning. Nita Moody, the tourney's outstanding hitter with six hits and eight runs batted in, singled Miss Penny home in the third and scored Sharon Jones with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

RUTH SPARKLES

Although Miss Archibald pitched two victories, the key pitching triumph may have been recorded by Ruth Ostler, the veteran southpaw who came out of retirement in mid-season.

Mrs. Oster, who has never lost a game in a B.C. tournament, tossed a five-hitter for the Sunday win over Kamloops and enabled Yeaman's to rest Miss Archibald for Monday's payoff tussles.

Fitness Signs Show As United Nips Scots

Victoria United players underlined coach Frank Grealy's fitness program Sunday while scoring a 4-2 exhibition victory over Canadian Scottish of the District Soccer League.

United, Pacific Coast League entry, showed a slight edge in fitness and experimented liberally against the youthful Scots in their first outing of the season.

Russ Bell scored two goals for the Coast League team while newcomer Jim Jamieson and George Paul popped in one each.

Stan Wiseman, on a penalty, and veteran Ken Hibbert connected for Scottish.

Park to claim the Bill Wild Perpetual Trophy.

The Victoria youth, covering the distance in a fast 42 minutes and 15 seconds, edged Yakima's Don Hopfinger. Wild placed third in the main event of a Victoria Cycling Club race that drew entries from Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, Victoria and Port Alberni.

Cards Hoist Bing's Flag —All He Needs Is Work

Times News Services

The way St. Louis Cardinals are rolling, Bing Devine could become major league executive of the year for the second successive season.

Now if only he could get a job...

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Monday by identical 3-2 scores with similar ninth-inning rallies and climbed into a second-place tie with the Reds—the first time since April 19 they've been as high as the runner-up spot.

Devine, named the majors' top executive last year for building the Cardinals into a pennant contender, resigned Aug. 17 in a hassle with the St. Louis front office. The Cardinals went into a slight slide, but pulled out of it a week later and now have won 12 of their last 15 games.

And like last year, when they made a late-season charge at Los Angeles Dodgers, the Cardinals have started to stir talk in a National League pennant race that has been dominated by Philadelphia Phillies.

The streak, coupled with Philadelphia's 8-7 record over the same period has pulled the Cardinals from 11 games back to within 6 1/2 games of the top with some two dozen games remaining.

PHILS SPLIT WITH L.A.

The Phillies split with their Labor Day doubleheader with the Dodgers, winning 5-1 behind Dennis Bennett's first victory in more than two months before losing the nightcap 3-1.

San Francisco Giants remained in fourth place—one percentage point back of the Cardinals and Reds—but also climbed within 6 1/2 games of the Phillies by riding Willie Mays' 40th and 41st homers to 6-4 and 9-6 victories over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Baltimore Orioles regained first place in the American League Monday by splitting their holiday doubleheader against the Kansas City Athletics.

Jim Gentile smashed a pair of homers against his old Baltimore teammates to give the A's a 6-1 victory in the second pitched the Orioles to a similar 6-1 triumph in the opener. Gentile, who came to the Athletics in a winter trade, unloaded a three-run homer in the first inning of the night cap.

Chicago White Sox skidded to second place, a half-game back of Baltimore, by dropping a pair to Washington Senators, 3-0 and 6-2.

Royal City Squad Fights Elimination

VANCOUVER—New Westminster will be banking on home-floor advantage in an effort to square the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League final series tonight.

Westminster, resorting to its wide-open running game, kept alive its hopes by trimming defending champion Vancouver 14-4 Saturday. The result left Vancouver with a 3-2 series' lead.

Seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Kerrisdale Arena on Thursday.

Mighty Plunger Wins $112,000

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—An Australian racing enthusiast Saturday won about $112,000 in a series of plunges at the Sydney racetrack after being down some $60,000 at one point.

Bookmakers said Frank Duval, a Sydney businessman with interests in Hong Kong and Tokyo, made his comeback after backing four winners in a row during the meeting.

The Sydney Sunday Mirror racing writer, Pat Farrell, dubbed Duval "the mightiest punter in Australian turf history."

The Sun-Herald called it "one of the biggest individual turf plunges in Sydney for many years."

Radio race commentators maintained running reports on Duval's fortunes throughout the afternoon.

NEEDED ALL OF IT

Duval, who was reported to have lost $168,000 in a disastrous day's wagering at Canterbury near Sydney last week, began as if his unlucky streak would continue.

After four races he was about $35,000 in the red, and in one huge bet he lost another $27,000 on a horse running at Melbourne Caulfield track, 600 miles away.

Then Duval began his comeback. He backed three winners in a row, including $33,000 on one horse alone, and was about $41,000 up before the last race. He put everything on a horse named Hubble Bubble, ridden by top jockey George Moore, and it won easily at the starting odds of two-to-one.

Trophy Donor Waits 8 Years For His Prize

Veteran Fran Morse, Lt.-Cmdr. Ted Lord and OS Gary Tory stood front and centre in the annual Pacific Command (Navy) Rifle Association championships at the weekend.

Morse won a trophy he originally donated eight years ago. Lord walked off with the PCRA championship and the youthful Tory shot his way to the coveted Lieut.-Governor's prize.

Morse won "his" trophy with a 526-shot total, seven more than Don Grant. Morse promptly presented the miniature to the veteran Dockyard marksman.

WON ON COUNTBAC

Lord won the PCRA aggregate although he tied Tom Saxby. Both fired 598, but Lord won on the countback.

Tory shaded Lord by three shots in the Lieut.-Governor's match. Tory also walked off with the greenshot aggregate.

LIKE 546 BEFORE HIM, JACKIE FACES REALITY

LONDON (AP)—Jackie Milburn is the latest in a long line of English soccer managers who have discovered it's tough at the top.

Milburn, once a star of Newcastle United and England, quit Ipswich Town and became the 547th manager to leave an English club since the end of the Second World War.

Milburn admitted the business of trying to get the right players within a limited budget had worried him to the extent where his health was beginning to go.

Ipswich now is at the bottom of the Second Division in the English League.

Raiders Scare Mighty Redmen

Oak Bay Farmer Construction scored its first victory while Campbell River's hapless Raiders threw a king-sized scare at defending champion Nanaimo Redmen.

Those were the highlights of Sunday's activity in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League.

Oak Bay, sparked by three ground-gaining full backs, downed Victoria Hornets 33-6 at Carnarvon Park. Raiders, playing at Nanaimo, jumped into a 20-1 lead after the first quarter but couldn't stand prosperity. Redmen scored 31 points in the final half to finally triumph 45-20 and take a four-point hold on the league lead.

Theatre in Canada, U.S. 'Most Backward in World'

By MARGE GILROY

Victor Mitchell's interest in the theatre began in the schools of Victoria.

It has taken him to the stages of London and to the theatrical school at Stanford University. Now it takes him to the new branch of the University of Alberta in Calgary.

Mr. Mitchell, who is visiting his mother at 1045 Joan Crescent, has accepted the challenging task of heading the first drama department in the new school.

His own special field of study is the Victorian theatre, a period of theatre which he feels has often been passed over and referred to in derogatory terms. For this reason he said many statements have been made to indicate "there is nothing in it."

But Mr. Mitchell has found enough in it for a doctorate thesis from the University of Stanford.

In 1962 and 1963 he received a grant from the Canada Council to study theatre at the American university. Now he is returning to Canada to promote and stimulate interest in the theatre as an art form among Canadian students.

Canada and the United States, Mr. Mitchell regards as the two most backward countries in the world when it comes to the theatre. They are the only countries where the theatre is not subsidized.

He said the only way the theatre can survive in either country is if it is subsidized.

The theatre, he said, differs from television and radio, in that it offers a sense of occasion, a feeling of importance in that particular situation and it generates an empathy which cannot be done through the other medias.

SEES CLOSENESS

There must be a closeness between the stage and the audience, and this Mr. Mitchell sees in the new McPherson Theatre being built in Centennial Square here.

The intimate environment between the actors and audience was lost during the Victorian period, said Mr. Mitchell, when actors had to make great sweeping gestures and articulate their lines with a stentorian voice from the apron of the stage to the distant audience in Covent Gardens and Drury Lane.

Both the box office and the stage must be kept within reach of the public and Mr. Mitchell said this can only be through a subsidy.

PRICES OCMFARE

In Germany where the theatre is subsidized, he said the price of a ticket to the movie, or to a play is comparable.

Mr. Mitchell sees the theatre growing in Canada but he said it will never really develop until such time as it can produce Canadian playwrights. The theatre of today he described as a production statement rather than an actor's performance.

In a sense it is as though the theatre was reflecting the theory of relativity, he said. The audience is left to see the play from all perspectives. It is a living and changing thing. It is a statement about life rather than a slice of life.

BEATLES' SECRET REVEALED BY FAN?

TORONTO (CP) — As an ecstatic gal said on the way out, you don't go to hear the Beatles. You go to see 'em.

She was right. Paul, John, George and Ringo could hardly be heard beyond the front-row seats but they were seen by sell-out crowds of 16,700 at each of two performances.

Maple Leaf Gardens termed this the greatest one-day turnout so far on the Beatles' 33-day North American tour.

At an estimated $93,000 for an hour's work, it also was the most profitable. (They've signed for a guaranteed $150,000 in Kansas City later in the tour.)

CROWD WAS ORDERLY

It also was one of the most orderly. No barriers were knocked down; no fan rushes to the stage developed. Some 250 policemen were in the auditorium.

There were 40-odd cases of hysteria at the end of the afternoon performance and a dozen or so at night but nothing that the 100 nurses on duty in two first-aid stations couldn't handle.

The Liverpool four leave today for two performances in Montreal.

The youthful singers arrived from Detroit early Monday. During their brief appearances at a downtown hotel about 30 girls were overcome as about 3,000 fans broke police lines in a dash for the hotel entrance. Paul McCartney lost part of his shirt in the scuffle.

Arab Leaders' Talks Stymied

ALEXANDRIA (AP) — The Arab summit conference appeared deadlocked today over ambitious and costly military plans against Israel.

After four days of discussions, Arab leaders couldn't agree on financing new armaments or on a unified military posture which would permit movement of troops from one Arab state to another.

10,000 Teen-Agers In Night of Rioting

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (AP)

—Three hundred steel-helmeted police and national guardsmen, many with rifles and fixed bayonet, kept an uneasy peace in this debris-strewn seaside resort on Monday in the aftermath of a night of wild rioting by 10,000 teen-agers.

The preschool fling saw jeering youngsters storm the police station, smash shop windows and pelt police with stones, garbage and beer cans weighted with sand.

More than 20 persons were injured.

One boy, Peter Zaniboni of Everett, Mass., was struck in the face with birdshot from a shotgun. Doctors said he would lose the sight in his right eye.

Most of the revellers were herded out of town, but many were arrested as they fled into the ocean trying to avoid capture. All were charged with inciting a riot.

The riot was called the worst ever at the beach community of 2,000 year-round residents. It finally was quelled with the aid of the national guard and state police from neighboring Maine and Massachusetts.

Anxious parents milled with dozens of teen-agers around the town Monday with ball money for those arrested.

At the town lockup, police and court officials still were processing those jailed. Up to 200 were booked.

By nightfall many of the rioters had left the area, but police and national guardsmen maintained strong patrols. Detachments of out-of-state troops remained on duty.

LITTERED STREETS

Hundreds of beer cans littered streets that were virtual rivers of broken glass and bits of torn clothing.

"This used to be a nice quiet town," one shopkeeper said. "Now it's bad all summer long — not only on Labor Day weekend but every Saturday night. I don't know where they all come from. The hotel owners must sleep them three deep."

Youthful exuberance leading to riotous actions was not confined to the U.S. East Coast. Clashes erupted between police and youths at Seaside, Ore., Saturday night and Sunday. But on Monday it rained, and all was peaceful, much to the relief of the 3,800 permanent residents of the coastal resort.

At Seaside, 700 youths stood toe-to-toe with police and pitted rocks, clubs and burning brands against night sticks in riotous events following a Saturday night street dance. The state national guard was called out and wholesale arrests were made when the trouble continued Sunday.

It was the third straight year of disturbances at Seaside. But no one was hurt seriously and only a few windows were broken along the town's main street. Businessman Lester Raw estimated damage at $500 or less.

Thrills on the Hoof Attract 9,000

MORE FAIR RESULTS

By HUMPHRY DAVY

It was the greatest show of its kind ever held on Vancouver Island.

This sums up the opinion of hundreds of Victorians and visitors who saw spectacular performances of horsemanship at the three-day Saanichton fair horse show over the Labor Day weekend.

The total attendance for all three major shows, including a thrilling cutting horse competition, was 9,000. Bleachers and standing room around the horse ring were packed for all major events, starting Saturday with the junior horse show and cutting horse competitions and ending Monday with the "open" English events.

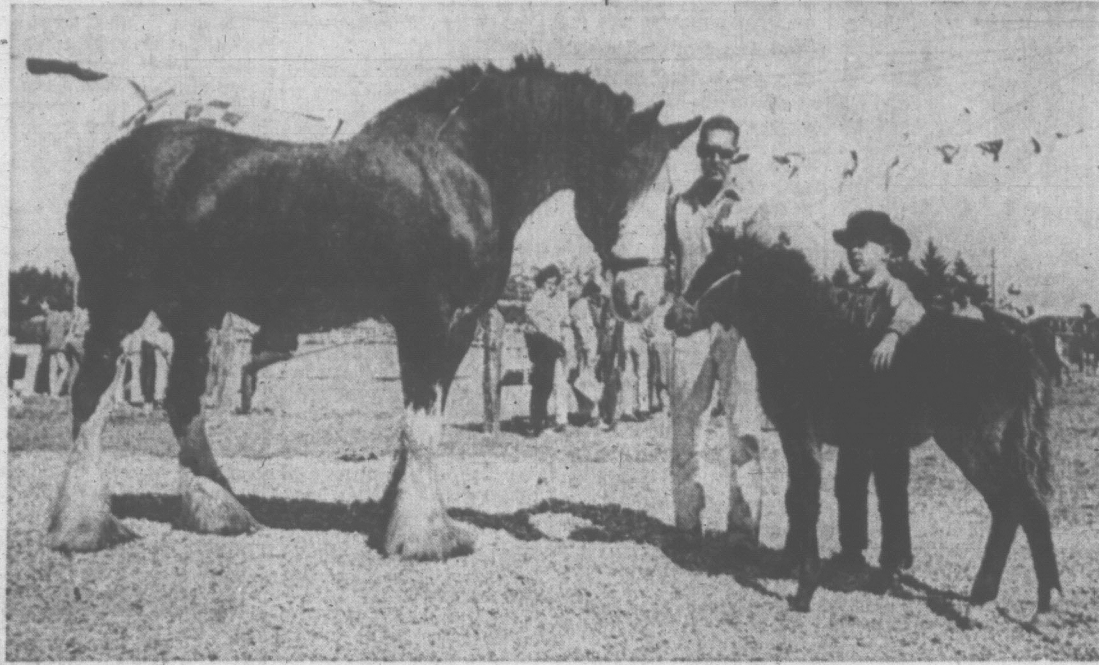

"There's no doubt it's the biggest ever," said Bud Mesher, chairman of the horse show. "It was terrific." In the junior horse show the entries in all but two classes were doubled, he said.

"The western show (Sunday) had more outstanding riders than in past years," he added. "In the English jumping class there were also better horses and the quality of horsemanship was excellent."

U.S. Contestants

The show this year not only attracted horsemen from Vancouver Island and the mainland, but from the United States.

On Monday, the most spectacular event in the English horse show was the open jumping class—a test of endurance and skill for both horse and rider.

And whose little girl are you? That's what the big Clydesdale, Lady, seems to be saying to the pony foal, Princess, when they met at the Saanichton Fair horse show over the weekend. The answer, Lady, is Jim Bissenden of 4462 Tyndall Avenue, Gordon Head, who is at the end of the halter shank. Lady, owned by dairyman Jaydie Wright of Lamont Road, Saanichton, is held by Roy Jewell, one of the horse show committeemen. The Clyde was in the limelight all weekend. She was the subject of a weight-guessing contest. Winner was Tom Stadel of Duncan who, along with three others, guessed within a pound the correct weight, and then was given a large food hamper through the toss of a coin. Lady's weight, by the way, is 1,757 pounds, as registered on the government truck scales at Elk Lake.

It was won by Miss Gillian Dunlop of Parkville, with her horse Pharoa. The same horse and rider won the novice jumping.

Runner-up in the open jumping was another Parkville girl, Anne Neden, riding Sorrowful Sam.

Mrs. Pat Newman of Victoria and C. C. Carpenter of Prospect Lake placed third and fourth.

Keen Competition

In the senior western horse show competition between mainland and Vancouver Island riders was keen. The tricky open stake race and clover leaf barrel race was Denny Spence of Vancouver, riding Joker, while the flag picking event was won by Merle Rimmer of Metchison with her horse Triggett.

The outstanding rider in the junior horse show was Donna Coles of Victoria riding Chico.

She was awarded the "Wally" Williams Memorial perpetual challenge trophy open to children and one horse having won most points in the children's classes.

French Congo Centre For African Revolt?

45-Day Jail Term

A 21-year-old motorist twice before convicted of driving while disqualified was today sent to jail for 45 days on his third conviction for this offence.

William Merchant, 2847 Naimo, asked the magistrate for leniency.

Said Magistrate William Ostler: "You haven't learned anything (from previous jail penalties). You continue to flout the law."

Merchant was arrested Monday night driving on Douglas Street. He switched seats in the car with a passenger in an attempt to fool police.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Red Chinese influence is growing in the former French Congo. Peking agents seem intent on transforming it into a base for revolution in Central and West Africa.

Brazzaville, capital of the Congo Republic, provides headquarters for what seems to be a mastermind committee of the rebellion in the other Congo, to the east, against the Leopoldville government.

Red China may see bright prospects for the spread of revolutionary violence from seeds planted in the two Congos. Portuguese Angola to the south is a prime target.

Rebels holding a large chunk of the eastern area of Leopoldville Congo, including the city of Stanleyville, refer to their forces as "the people's liberation army." The Red Chinese apply the same name to their army.

Evidently, the anti-Leopoldville uprising gets significant help from Brazzaville, an important transport hub for all Central Africa. It is headquarters for an organization called the National Council for Liberation of The Congo. This group issues communiques on the progress of rebellion in the neighboring Congo, and describes itself as devoted to "Lumumba-ism." Patrice Lumumba, a pro-Communist premier of Leopoldville, was murdered in 1961.

Premier Moise Tshombe in Leopoldville complained this week of "interference from certain foreign countries in the service of Communist China, such as Brazzaville Congo and Burundi." Burundi is to the east of Leopoldville Congo.

POLICY CONFUSED

The Brazzaville regime is headed by President Alfonse Massamba - Debat, who overthrew conservative Fulbert Youlou a year ago. While members of his cabinet make lurid Marxist pronouncements, Massamba-Debat seems to be treading water in a sea of confusion.

Massamba-Debat says he is for nonalignment, but looking forward to expanded relations with Red China to help build "scientific socialism" which will "oppose capitalism."

The Chinese make their biggest appeal, evidently, to youth. Young men played a large part in the revolution last August. Youngsters, calling themselves "revolutionary committees," fan antiwhite hatred.

There are still 8,000 French in the nation of 800,000, but French troops protecting them, according to Massamba-Debat, will soon be withdrawn. The French civilians probably will go, too. Without France, Brazzaville faces economic chaos, but logic seems to have little to do with what goes on in many new African nations.

People's Daily of Peking says the Brazzaville regime plays a "positive role in international affairs" in Africa. It says Brazzaville energetically supports "the people" in other African areas in "advancing the cause of African people's solidarity to combat imperialism."

Translated, that can mean the Chinese Communists consider Brazzaville all but safely in the bag and a base for spreading violent revolution.

Western Traders Seek Deals with E. Germany

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Western traders — especially the British — are courting Communist East Germany's business. They say West Germany is trying to block them.

The traders are here in large numbers for the autumn Leipzig trade fair, largest in the Communist world. One of the most vocal complaints about West German opposition came from Burnaby Drayson, Conservative member of Parliament from a Yorkshire agricultural area.

In an interview, Drayson said the West Germans are trying by political and other means to keep Western countries from trading with East Germany.

But he said British business men are going to insist on a fair share of the market.

West Germany is the biggest Western trader with East Germany. Total trade both ways ran to about $437,000,000 last year. West German officials, while insisting on official non-recognition of the Communist regime, contend trade is a domestic matter and may help achieve German reunification.

They Served Up The Prime Cut Of Cutting-Horses

By LLOYD BAKER

A local horse enthusiast had a thought a few months ago which he galloped into one of the biggest things the Saanichton Fair has enjoyed in its 96 years of operation.

With persuasive tongue, A. W. (Bud) Mesher sold the board of directors of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society on the introduction of cutting-horse competitions at the exhibition this year.

Then he took his smooth talk south of the border and to the B.C. mainland.

He wooed many of the cream of cutting-horse competitors in the Pacific Northwest into entering the show. And it was a roaring success!

There's More

That isn't the complete story, though. There was more than winning talk involved. Much muscle work was required, and this proved to be refreshing. Mesher's muscle was joined by that of other horsemen, cattlemen and other farmer-types in a fine spirit of "togetherness."

They slaved on weekends, and evenings reconstructing the horse show ring and stabilizing at the fair ground. They put a new surface on the ring to ensure acceptable footing for the cutting horse events. A major contributor was the building supply firm of Butler Bros, which donated 300 yards of sand for the ring, as well as equipment to help get it there.

Wife Helps

Spearheading the effort with Mesher were two other members of the three-man horse show committee, Roy Jewell and Aubrey Temblett. And up to her ears in paper-work behind scenes was the secretary, Mrs. Lee Mesher, wife of the chairman.

Twenty-two horses were entered in the cutting events, split evenly between the open event and the novice. One came from as far away as Modesto, Calif., two from Oregon and the remainder from Washington and the B.C. mainland.

The competitors passed up a major show, the Ellensburg Rodeo, to come to Saanichton. And after the competitions were over, they said they would be happy to come back.

"We've had a real fine time, and we'll see you again," said Mel McGuire of Yakima, Wash., one of the top cutters in the U.S. whose enthusiasm was not dampened by the fact he had some bad luck and did not get into the money.

Stallion Parade

The events took place Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday morning and afternoon. The Saturday evening show was preceded by a Parade of Stallions to show the calibre of breeding stock available on Southern Vancouver Island. Breeds shown included Thoroughbred, Morgan, Arabian, Appaloosa, Appaloosa pony, Welsh pony, American Saddlebred, Palomino and Quarterhorse.

After the open competition Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, some of the U.S. riders demonstrated the high schooling of their horses by putting them through their paces without use of a bridle.

New Experience

Many in the large crowds at all of the "go-rounds" had never seen cutting-horse events before.

There was vigorous applause as the riders took their mounts into a herd of cattle, selected one animal, drove it out of the herd, and attempted to hold it from rearing to its friends. Each competitor had two-and-a-half minutes to show his horse's prowess in blocking off the steer as it tried to return to the herd through natural instinct.

In the open events the riders were competing for $200 prize money and the Victoria Daily Times Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

When points were tallied, top winner was a Ferndale, Wash., cowboy by name of Curley Southern whose little Quarterhorse, King Reed, was a thing of beauty in action.

Ex-Duncan Boy

Second to him was a Canadian, a former Duncan boy now working at C. N. (Chunky) Woodward's Douglas Lake Cattle Ranch. David Batty, who has ridden in horse shows here and on the mainland for many years, put on a great performance with He'll Do Tivo.

Third, and perhaps the most spectacular contestant in the open event, was a professional cutting-horse trainer from Woodinville, Wash., Buster Smith, whose big Quarterhorse stallion, Maestro, spun and wheeled like a top in the battle of wits with the steers.

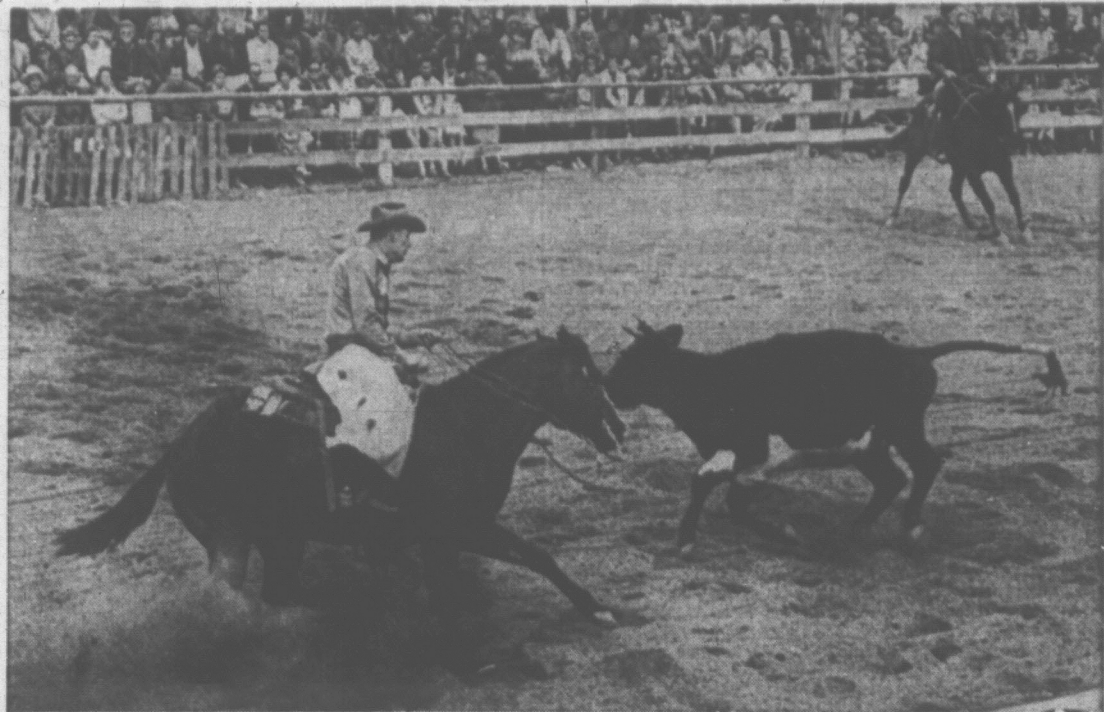

Fourth was one of two sons of Mel McGuire who competed. Larry McGuire showed with Soto Bailey that he is following in father's hoof-prints.

Novice Events

Results of novice events were:

Second go-round—1. Chiquita Pistol, Bob Mate; 2. Rusty Baron, Otto Schultz, Richmond, B.C.; 3. Bueno Chick, Buster Smith; 4. Countess, Louise Anderson, Auburn, Washington.

City Man Dies In Island Crash

Sidney Couple Injured

A 27-year-old Victoria man died in a two-car collision on the Trans-Canada Highway about seven miles north of Duncan Sunday night.

Dead is Robert Young, 1141 Bute Street.

Duncan RCMP said driver of the other car involved in the accident at about 10:30 p.m. was Melvin Baldwin, 2296 Gore Crescent, Sidney.

Mr. Baldwin was released from hospital after treatment but his wife, Mrs. Greta Baldwin, suffered facial cuts.

She was first taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan. She is reported to day in only fair condition.

DETAILS WITHHELD

The cars collided head-on and are wrecks. Police have withheld all details of the accident.

Mr. Baldwin is today still suffering shock. He and his wife were returning from a holiday up-island when the accident occurred.

An inquest into the fatality has been ordered by Coroner D. K. McAdam of Duncan. It will be held in Chemainus but a date has not yet been set.

Hong Kong Vets' Diagnostic Plan Major Objective

Frank Breakwell, president of the Vancouver Island branch of the Hong Kong Veterans' Association, said today that a major effort will be made to obtain diagnostic and research services for sick members.

He leaves Wednesday for Winnipeg where he will represent B.C. members of the association in talks with officials of the Canadian Pensions' Commission and Department of Veterans' Affairs.

The conference will run from Thursday to Saturday. It was scheduled at the suggestion of a parliamentary committee.

"We are asking for diagnostic and research services to find out why the Hong Kong veterans are dying at relatively young ages," said Mr. Breakwell.

"David Groos, our Victoria MP, will also attend the conference to help us present our case and I'd certainly like to give him credit for all the help he is giving us."

BURGLAR TAKES $400 FROM HOTEL CASH BOX

Over the long weekend thieves stole $400 from a downtown hotel, $150 worth of tools from a construction company and $120 at other business premises.

The largest haul was made at Cherry Bank Hotel where a cash box was discovered missing Sunday. It contained $400 and had been placed the night before in a drawer in a cupboard in a dining room at the hotel.

Craftsmen's tools were taken from a pile-driving rig at Butler Bros., 409 Bay. The loss was discovered Monday.

At Pacific Moving Supply, 2643 Douglas, a prowler got away with $80 cash from a till and another $40 from a drawer.

CLOSURE DENIED

Fairey Cutback Worries Union

Union officials, pointing to a sharp cutback in the working force, today predicted Fairey Aviation of Canada is on the verge of shutting down its Patricia Bay plant but the manager vehemently denied the suggestion.

"There is no truth in that at all," said manager K. E. Hiebert.

"The plant is not closing down. We have been reducing staff but that's due to the normal work loads at this time of year."

He said aircraft conversion work is slow at the moment but production of offset presses and industrial equipment for handling materials is continuing.

HIRE AGAIN SOON

"We'll be hiring again in the not too distant future," he said.

However, officials of Lodge 456 of the International Machinists Union, said they were so concerned with recent layoffs that a committee has been formed to buttonhole community leaders here in the hopes some method can be found to keep the plant open.

One union official, who preferred to remain unidentified, told The Times the work force has been cut to about 20 men from a level of 200 a year ago. "We expect the staff to be reduced to one or two caretakers before long," he said. "Most of the men laid off have gone to aircraft industry jobs in other parts of the country and I don't know if they could be brought back now."

"QUITE A BLOW" He said the 200-man payroll totalled about $1,000,000 a year and supplies and services probably would double this amount.

"The loss of possibly $50,000 a week spent in this area will be quite a blow to the economy of Greater Victoria, and it will be particularly felt in Sidney," the union official said.

The union says completion of the third Martin Mars conversion to a water bomber ends current work in this field which saw a dozen RCAF Neptune patrol planes and several commercial aircraft undergoing changes in the Patricia Bay plant during the past three years.

Officials expressed fears that industrial production of machine shops will be transferred to the Fairey plant at Halifax and the local plant will be closed down.

SCHOOL ROOMS COME ALIVE

'Over to You, Teacher'—Mothers

Dazed, frightened and excited children filled the school yards this morning between 8:30 and 10 a.m.

Some clutched a friend, some a new book bag and some a mother's hand. They were the first of 26,000 students expected to register for grades one to 12 in the Greater Victoria area, an increase of 1,000 over last year.

Another 1,500 pupils will get their first taste of school as they take their place in kindergarten classes.

Teachers, 947 strong, were braced for the rush which began at 9 a.m. in the elementary schools, and at 10 a.m. in the junior and senior secondary schools.

Registration for grades 8-10 will continue through to Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Senior students are expected to complete registration by Wednesday afternoon.

PATROLS BACK

Before the week is out school patrols will be back in harness and the shiny new shoes and blazers of today will be showing signs of wear.

In Sooke 134 teachers in three secondary and 11 elementary schools are expecting to register close to 3,400 students and in outer Saanich 3,500 students will register in four secondary and 14 elementary schools.

In all 34,575 pupils, an increase of 1,500, are expected to be back at school in the three school districts on Vancouver Island.

Restrictions End Oct. 4 On Coast Road

The road to Vancouver Island's west coast Long Beach will be open to public traffic all the time next month.

The 60-mile route from Alberni to Tofino and Ucluelet becomes public property again Oct. 4 when an agreement between the provincial government and MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co. expires.

Gates at either end of the road will be thrown open permanently.

Since 1958, the agreement has allowed the timber firm to place restrictions on public travel. The precipitous route, rugged but beautiful, was only open to intrepid motorists on weekends and between the hours of 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. weekdays.

The company was allowed to close it completely during periods of extreme fire hazard.

NO RESTRICTIONS

There will be no restrictions of any kind after Oct. 4. But it may be a long time before the road is any easier to travel.

Only a short section near the west coast end is paved, and Highways Minister P. A. Gallagher would make no promises today about further paving or major improvements.

"As soon as it becomes our responsibility naturally we will try to do as much as we can on it," he said.

This will include stepped up maintenance this winter.

"WHEN WARRANTED" As for paving: "It will be done when it is warranted and when it can be fitted in with the priority list," Mr. Gallagher said.

"We are keeping in close touch," he added.

Ask The Times

Q. Why do the schools in B.C. open one week later than schools in other Canadian provinces? D.S.

A. Each provincial department of education is autonomous and therefore can select the opening dates for schools under its jurisdiction.

Q. There is a plaque in Bristol stating John Cabot and his son Sebastian sailed in the ship Matthew in 1497 and discovered the continent of America. Why are we led to believe that Christopher Columbus discovered America? A.V.

A. It depends on how you look at it. Columbus' voyage in 1492 took him to islands of the Caribbean which are considered part of North America. However, Cabot landed off Nova Scotia, the actual continent, in 1497.

However, most historians believe North America was discovered by Lief Eriksson around 1000 A.D.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve legal problems or local problems. We will attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Topics of the Day

A Sidney rider, 18-year-old Karen Burdon, brought home the T. N. Henderson Memorial Trophy from the Pacific National Exhibition. She won the major jumping trials at the horse show in open jumping competition against 12 rivals.

Miss Anna Neilson, of 1368 Thurlow, has been elected president of Victoria Camera Club.

Other officers newly elected by the club are: Maurice Chandler, vice-president; Miss Louise Putnam, secretary; and Miss Christina Peterson, treasurer.

Next regular meeting of the club will be Oct. 28 in the St. John Ambulance Hall, Pandora. On Sept. 25 the club will hold its annual banquet in the Colony Hotel, starting 6:30 p.m.

A police investigation and a pathologist's examination has revealed no negligence in the death Friday of a one-year-old baby.

The investigation was ordered by Coroner Edmund Jorre after it was discovered there were several bruises on the infant's head.

But, Mr. St. Jorre said this morning, the bruises turned out to be only very superficial and were quite normal on a baby.

He said cause of death was bleeding beneath the cover of the brain. He said there is no suggestion of negligence either on the part of the parents or the baby-sitter looking after the child.

First place in the Annual Individual City Duplicate Bridge Championship was taken by Mrs. Frances Champion, Saturday, at Moose Hall.

Runner-up Paul Smith was half a point behind the winner. Other card sharps were Marjorie Fortye, third place; Patricia Bishop, fourth; Birdie Spotswood, fifth; Laura Tingley, sixth.

New Quarters Of Pacific Club Open Thursday

The 75-year-old Pacific Club will open its new premises at 500 Fort Street to members on Thursday.

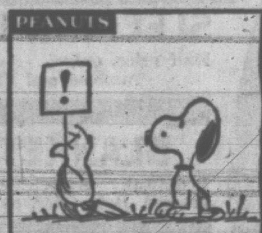

The club, formerly occupying the top floor of the Yarrow Building for many years, decided more than a year ago that it would purchase its own premises.

To this end, the former headquarters building of the B.C. Cement Co. was purchased and a renovating and refurbishing program carried out at a cost of $140,000.

In opening the new club, J. E. Phillion, president, said: "Our executive is very confident that the members will be happy with the new club."

"A great deal of thought has gone into the planning and executing the alterations."

A formal banquet to mark the opening will be held within the next few weeks.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Invite Lost Pounds Back By Careless Eating

What has happened to you readers who lost successfully by following my 9-Day Diet not long ago? The pounds just rolled off during those nine days. I hope they haven't rolled back on again!

In case you are beginning to gain weight, stop, weigh and diet! After disciplining yourself so successfully, and with such happy results, it would be too bad to slip back into those old habits of overeating and those uncomfortable rolls over the girdle. That slim, sleek feeling should be habit forming.

My 9-Day Diet should accustom you to better habits in eating than you had in the past. Fresh fruit is certainly better than rich desserts. Less fat in the diet is a step in the right direction, from the standpoint of health, too.

A baked potato gives you more in health value than mashed or creamed potatoes because some of the vitamin and mineral content is lost when you boil vegetables. Why not continue to build your regular diet around lean meats, eggs, seafoods, skim milk, baked potatoes, fruit juices, whole grains, lots of green salads and fresh fruits and vegetables?

My 9-Day Diet gives you around 1,000 calories a day. The woman who is not overweight requires more than this, but why not increase your calorie intake with vital foods rather than with empty calories? By empty calories we mean calories which give you no health values. Why not make the foods I have mentioned a way of life?

If this is your usual way of eating you can then add some of those lovely extras once in a while, but do not allow them to become a daily habit. If so, the pounds will soon catch up with you again.

If you missed my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days' time, and would like to have it, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

NS-419 Charles Montaigne

By definition a suit is the essence of versatility and by tradition it's a winter favorite. However, in the hands of French designer Charles Montaigne the suit reaches a new high in femininity. The secret lies in the artistry of the bias side panels of the jacket which fold in at the waist. The skirt incorporates all that is flattering with its three-panel construction while the (raglan type) sleeves taper the shoulders. The look is one of lasting beauty and achieved by superb cut and design instead of tedious clusters of detail. Even the little hip band that doubles as a pocket up front is more a pinch of spice than a major attraction. And why not, when the major attraction of any good suit should be you? Particularly outstanding in plaid wool, but equally stunning in any soft fabric. To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size charts.

No Set Rule For Determining Fabric's Right or Wrong Side

Dear Eunice:

Please tell me once and for all how to tell the right side from the wrong side of material we buy?

MRS. R. Y.

Dear Mrs. R. Y.:

In most cases there is no set rule to go by. Wool is folded with the "right" side inside. Cottons, silks and linens are usually folded with the right side out. Today, with the many synthetic fabrics that are added to the true fibers, there is no definite rule to go by. It is best to have the sales girl tell you when you purchase your fabric, immediately mark it before you forget.

If you will examine the selvedge of the fabric, it will usually look a little more finished on the right side. Actually, it often doesn't make too much difference which side you use, the important point to remember is that your entire garment must be made on the same side.

I always suggest that you mark a small "x" on the wrong side of each piece of your fabric before removing the printed pattern. In this way, you can be sure. It is also a good idea to mark the scraps before you put them away. You can save a lot of time later.

Reduce Hot Water Bills With Cold Water Soap

By PENNY SAVER

It never fails, every time wash day rolls around, every one in the house decides to have a bath and I get left without enough hot water to do a thorough laundry job.

This was the common lament in my mother's house and now that I have my own place, it's easy to understand why she used to become frustrated.

But, if you search long and hard enough you'll find there's a solution to most every problem. And, product I found today is your answer for this one.

It's a new laundry detergent that has only been on the market in Victoria for a matter of weeks. It has been developed especially for use in cold water and sells at 65 cents and $1.19 a bottle.

Detergent does your entire laundry in cold water and still ensures powerful cleaning action, sparkling whiteness and brighter colors.

Because you are using cold water, it also reduces shrinkage and keeps most stains from setting.

It is unconditionally guaranteed and can be used in both automatic and wringer washers.

What's more, there are no involved instructions to follow—you merely proceed as you would with hot water.

For extra large or heavily soiled loads, or if you are using hard water, just add slightly more detergent and the same results will be seen. Bleaches and other laundry aids can be used normally and soap can also be used in hot or warm water.

Interested in reducing those hot water bills? Then call Penny at 382-3131 and find out name of this product and shop where it is available.

Newlyweds Honeymoon In South

On return from a honeymoon trip to San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Furbank will make their home at 1687 Chandler Avenue.

Fr. M. J. McNamara officiated at the ceremony in St. Patrick's Church, last Friday evening, that united Donna Mae Broad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Broad of Medicine Hat, Alta., and the son of Mrs. Frances Furbank, of Victoria, and the late Clifford Furbank.

Yellow gladioli and golden brown chrysanthemums decorated the church for the ceremony. "Ave Maria" was played during the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of organza over taffeta that featured a lace bodice styled with short sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. The controlled skirt was highlighted with a lace Watteau train. Her four-tier nylon net veil misted from a headpiece of French organza flowers. Garnet roses were in her bouquet. She entered the church on the arm of her father.

Bell-skirted gowns in brogue and yellow tones were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Foster and bridesmaid, Miss Linda Broad. Their headpieces were yellow tulle rings.

Another bridesmaid, Miss Diane Broad, chose a full-skirted gown of yellow taffeta highlighted with a lace-covered bodice.

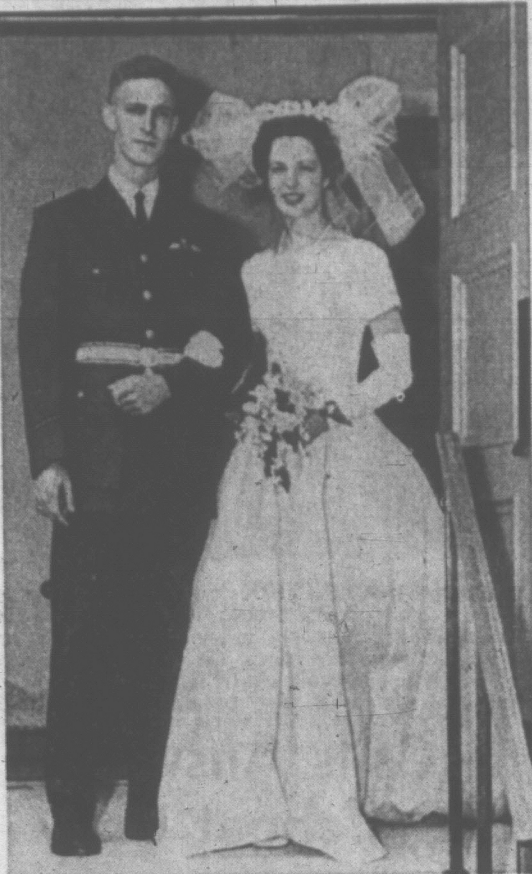

All carried bouquets of light gold chrysanthemums.

A pale bronze frock of flocked nylon was worn by the flower girl, Miss Shannon Foster. Her headpiece was white organza flowers and she carried a colonial bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

Frank Foster was best man and ushering guests to their pews were Ray Vital and Richard Broad.

A wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's grandfather, Thomas A. Smith, of Medicine Hat, centred the bride's table at a reception in Holyrood House. Autumn-toned floral arrangements and vases of red roses completed the decorations. Toast was proposed by Frank Foster.

For travelling, the bride wore a teal blue English worsted wool suit with matching feather hat, black accessories and corsage of pink rapture roses.

FO Michael Vallance Patriarche and Mrs. Patriarche are pictured following their marriage in Ottawa in July. Mrs. Patriarche is the former Jennifer Anne Groos, daughter of Commodore and Mrs. H. V. W. Groos of Ottawa and Victoria and her husband is the son of Air Commodore M. V. Patriarche and Mrs. Patriarche of Victoria.

Labombarde-McDonald Vows Heard

Rev. J. H. Garden officiated at the recent quiet ceremony in First United Church that united Elizabeth Margaret Labombarde and Robert George McDonald.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. N. Johnson, 430 Beta Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, 2164 Esplanade.

The bride wore a light-blue suit with matching hat, dark-brown accessories and corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Only attendant, Mrs. H. Eaton, wore a pink suit with matching hat, neutral accessories and white carnation corsage.

George Wilson was best man. At a reception in the Terra Cotta Room of the Dominion Hotel, the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. White and pink streamers and two bells above the table completed decorations. Peter Robin proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

On return from a honeymoon trip to Banff, Lake Louise and the interior, the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria. Only out-of-town guests at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Anderson of Largs, Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Clinton Chatton and their three sons, from the left, the twins Jerry and Jim, 15 years, and Steve, 16, have come to Victoria from Los Angeles to make their home. Mr. Chatton was born here and grew up in the city. An optometrist, he has been in California for 35 years. The Chattons are living at 1651 St. Francis Wood.

Parties Honor Bride

The Misses Dorothy Leard and Dianne Kersey were co-hostesses at a surprise shower, given in honor of Mrs. R. J. Tessier, the former Patricia Zanichelli, whose marriage took place last Saturday. They were assisted by Mrs. R. Kersey.

Heywood-Banks Vows Exchanged

Baskets of white gladioli were at the chancel steps and white carnations at the altar in St. Michael and All Angels Church, Royal Oak, Saturday when Canon J. Rogers officiated at the double-ring ceremony that united Margaret Sharon Banks and Vernon Louis Heywood.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Banks, 4342 Glenford Avenue. Groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Heywood, 1718 Carrick. Mr. Banks gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of taffeta faille, styled with Empire waistline and elbow-length sleeves enhanced with Gulpure lace appliques. Back interest was created with soft folds and flat bow that created a bustle effect. The skirt extended into a train. Her elbow-length veil misted from a headpiece of pearls and organza. Deep pink rapture roses and pink carnations were in her bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. M. Moir and bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Heywood, sister of the groom and Miss Barbara Reed, chose identical street-length gowns in blue peau de sole that were made by the groom's mother.

Matching blue wedding ring headpieces and accessories and pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride, completed their ensembles. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Colin Moir was best man and ushering guests to pews marked with blue bows centred with white heather were Norman Banks, the bride's brother, and Wayne Dunsmuir.

C. Dixon proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in Holyrood House. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier all-white wedding cake, white candles and pink roses.

For travelling on a honeymoon trip to the Interior, the bride donned a taupe wool crepe suit with toning hat and dark brown accessories. Yellow rosebuds were in her corsage. The newlyweds will make their home in Prince George.

Friday Bride Feted

Showers held to honor Mrs. A. J. Clark, the former Nancy Rose Barrett, whose marriage took place last Friday include one given by Miss Joan Sim in the Gorge Road home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. R. Macintosh. A decorated cup and saucer and laundry basket contained gifts. They were presented by the honor guest's sister, Miss Sharon Scott and her cousin, Miss Kathy Macintosh.

Corsages of feathered carnations were received by the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. F. Scott, and her grandmother, Mrs. E. Ericson. Refreshments were served.

Guests included Mrs. V. Barrett, Mrs. C. Gelling, Mrs. A. Wyatt, Mrs. N. Robertson, Mrs. R. Macintosh Sr., Mrs. N. Sim, Mrs. R. Johnston, Mrs. E. Hammond, Mrs. N. Barrett, the Misses Mary Wilcock, Sandra Wensley, Gwen Barrett, Barbara Barrett.

A pink and white shower cake flanked by pink candles in silver holders centred the refreshment table when Mrs. C. F. Johnston and Miss Shirley Johnston entertained in their Lyall Street home.

Corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, and her grandmother.

Gifts were contained in a decorated laundry basket and pre-

Those present included Mrs. R. Macintosh, Mrs. N. Sim, Mrs. A. Newell, Mrs. A. Scott, Mrs. P. Kerr, Mrs. P. Isberg, Mrs. F. Scott, Mrs. F. Woolcock, the Misses Sheila Newell, Joan Sim and Carol Johnston.

NANAIMO—Seventy per-jected.

Branch officials said Saturday 146 cars passed the test and 340 were rejected in the five days ending Friday. However, 143 of the rejects were passed when returned for a second test.

The mobile unit is at Burnaby today for a two-week stay.

Axel Duch, manager of Cas-

Saturday the firm plans to in-

Students 'On Stage' At Claremont High

New classrooms are being finished and negotiations for a new $12,000 bus are underway to help provide for a predicted 10 per cent jump in Saanich school district enrolment.

Some temporary accommodation will be used as the school term opens this week, district 33 chairman Reginald Sinkinson said.

Three classes will be held in the auditorium and on stage at Claremont Senior Secondary School as workmen strive to have four new teaching areas and a lecture room completed by the end of October.

Mount Newton Secondary industrial arts and home economics classes will be inconvenienced until new space is added by mid-October.

Sidney Elementary pupils can expect a single room addition to be ready within the month, Mr.
Sinkinson said.

3,500 ENROLMENT

Trustees are expecting 3,400-3,500 pupils in the sprawling district this term. A third 67-passenger rural bus will be added to the three-bus fleet, allowing a single 50-passenger model to be held in reserve.

The chairman said future school expansion is in the planning stage.

Negotiations are in progress to buy 10 acres in the Stealy's Cross Road area to provide an initial four-room junior secondary unit.

More property, also covering
10 acres, is held in the North Saanich area for a senior secondary school, and a three-room elementary school is projected at Saanichton.

But the board is reluctant to expand its existing property here because the original ownership of the land is obscure.

NEED CLEAR TITLE

At the time of school district consolidation, some school property was held in the name of Saanich municipal school board and no provision was made to turn it over to the consolidated district.

Trustees meanwhile are reluctant to add to such parcels.
We feel we shouldn't be responsible for developing land without holding clear title to it," Mr.
Sinkinson explained.

A school board delegation will meet Central Saanich municipal council to try to clear up the confusion, he said.

FOUR ESCAPE IN BOAT EXPLOSIONS

Four people escaped uninjured after two boats exploded over the holiday.

At Campbell River Monday a 29-foot gillnetter mysteriously blew up minutes after leaving the government wharf.

Owner of the boat, Pat Vienneau, of Willow Point, was only slightly burnt when the explosion ripped off the cabin roof.

He and two friends, who escaped injury, were taken off the burning boat by John Humphries manning the search and rescue boat.

At Retreat Cove on Galiano Island Sunday, a Vancouver boat owner was blown into the water when his $3,000 boat exploded.

As Andrew Gilfillian, 270
East 50th, was dragged on to shore, his 20-foot craft settled lower in the water and eventually sank.

UP-DATE YOUR WIRING

Wiring your home to modern Housepower standards is one of the most important home improvements you can make.
An adequate main power service will ensure safe, efficient capacity for all your present appliances - your future ones, too. Plenty of circuits, outlets and switches will give you
"plug-in" convenience all through the house.

REMODEL WITH LIGHT

Dramatic living room valance lights. Romantic garden lights.
You can install glamorous modern lighting fixtures of your choice - indoors and out installation costs - everything

INSTALL SUNSHINE- CLEAN HEAT

Basements, attics, porches, add-on rooms are the targets for many remodelling plans.
And the best and simplest way to keep these new rooms warm and cosy is with supplementary electric heat. Modern baseboard and wall panel heaters are inexpensive and easy to install - provide carefree, sunshine-clean heat at the turn of a dial.

KEEP COOL IN SUMMER

conditioning units can be installed in single rooms or combined with a central heating system.

VENTILATE FOR COMFORT

No kitchen odors. No steam-up windows. A simple exhaust fan can make work in the kitchen so much more comfortable - and bath time more pleasant, too. Air vent fans are easy to install - and cost only a few dollars a month under the Housepower Finance Plan.

Big Flower Show at Home on the Range

It will be Home on the Range at the Victoria Horticultural Society flower show Friday and Saturday

featuring a giant wagon wheel of fruits, vegetables and flowers. The most spectacular show ever staged by the society will open at 2 p.m. Friday in the Curling Rink. The show will remain open until 10 p.m. Friday. Hours on Saturday are 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

New varieties of Dutch dahlias will be on display together with award-winning varieties of chrysanthemums and many other cut flowers. It is expected there will be 170 flower arrangements entered in the decorative section. At 3 p.m. Saturday, Mrs. Theo Wiggan will demonstrate the latest techniques in flower arranging. Gardening information will be available at all times and the show will close with the awarding of trophies, followed by an auction of blooms, vegetables and shrubs.

Russ Eveleigh, chairman of the society's show committee, says the Victoria show will put the exhibits at the Pacific National Exhibition in the shade.

"The standard of blooms and the floral arranging are both away ahead of the PNE," he said. The wagon wheel floor plan decided upon will feature exhibits of colorful fruit, vegetables, dahlias and chrysanthemums which will rise by means of tiers and staging.

Matter of Growth

Riot, Parades Mark Holiday For Canadians

By The Canadian Press

For most Canadians, the three-day Labor Day weekend was a chance for a brief holiday before sending children back to school.

For others, it meant a riot, a demonstration for peace, taking part in parades or violent death.

The riot took place at Grand Bend, Ont., Saturday night when about 500 persons, mostly young, interfered with police as they attempted to break up a fight on the main street of the Lake Huron resort community.

The Riot Act was read early Sunday morning by Murray Desjardins, village clerk and justice of the peace.

A total of 81 persons were arrested, four charged with failing to heed the reading of the act, 59 on liquor charges, 13 on criminal charges and five for traffic violations.

At La Macaza, Que., 51 persons blocked the entrance to the RCAF Bomarc missile base Monday to start a 48-hour demonstrations.

OTHERS PARADE

In addition to the sit-downers, 40 other pacifists paraded with placards outside the highway at the base, 122 miles northwest of Montreal. There were no incidents in the demonstration, which the group says is an attempt to reclaim the base for useful purposes.

Labor disputes were emphasized in parades at Toronto and London, Ont.

Members of Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC), on strike against the three Toronto daily newspapers since July 9, marched 1,200 strong in Toronto's parade, described by officials as the largest in years.

Each marcher carried a placard outlining the union's stand in its dispute with The Globe and Mail, The Star and The Telegram.

At London, Local 27 of the United Auto Workers (CLC) used banners to focus attention on its strike against the Wolverine tube plant. More than 2,000 marchers took part in the parade, the longest ever for London.

DISCUSS THE STRIKE

At Thompson, Man., where the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) have been on strike against the International Nickel Company since Aug. 12, talks were held during the weekend. The last formal negotiations between the company and union, which represents 1,700 mine and refinery workers, took place Aug. 11.

The accidental death toll was heavy across the nation, but fell short of the record 121 last year. But the record of 13 highway deaths, also set last year, fell by the wayside.

Labor Minister MacEachen told a Labor Day luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition that Canada still has time to tame the monster of automation "before it grows too big."

There is a need for genuine co-operation between labor and management, he said.

Records Crash At Smash Fair

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A record-breaking 20,000 persons attended the 96th annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society over the Labor Day weekend.

"I have never seen as big a fair on Vancouver Island," said Albert Doney, president of the society, as the three-day exhibition closed Monday at Saanichton.

He estimated there were 6,000 on the grounds Saturday, 2,000 Sunday and 12,000 Monday. Previous high attendance was 15,000.

Other records fell too. While exhibits in some sections were less than last year, the total number of entries was greater—more than 3,000.

The weather was near-perfect—sunny but not too warm on Saturday, cloudy on Sunday and Monday. A short shower Monday afternoon did not interfere with the fun.

There were more than 500 cars parked on the grounds and a similar number on two nearby fields along East Saanich Road.

Crowds flowed almost continuously three and four abreast in the main building, and lineups for rides straggled halfway across the infield at times.

A large crowd watched the highland dancing Monday.

Garden produce exhibitors were more than pleased when some judges who had been to the Pacific National Exhibition told them their vegetables and fruits were of a higher quality than their mainland counterparts.

Big winner in the fruit, vegetables and flower section was J. E. Grant, 4877 Wesley Road. He was awarded the Green Cross Challenge Trophy for

The holiday weekend brought 10 accidental deaths on the mainland, including a young man killed on his wedding day by his own rifle.

RCMP in Fort St. John said Robert H. Beattie, 24, was found by relatives Saturday, dead of a bullet wound in the head. He had apparently slipped and discharged the rifle accidentally while hunting near Fort St. John.

He was to have been married Saturday afternoon.

The B.C. toll included one other hunting death, seven highway fatalities and the death of one man in a fire.

FIRE, TRAFFIC

Andrew Johnny, 25, of Vanderhoof, was alone in a house on the Prince George District Indian Reserve when fire broke out early Monday.

Patricia Toner, 4, of Surrey, died early today of injuries suffered Sunday when her parents' car was hit by another vehicle.

A two-car collision Monday on the southern Trans-Canada Highway near Princeton took the lives of Mary Ellen Sutherland, 61, of Kelowna and Leslie William Bradford, 51, of Vernon.

Bradford's wife, Ruth Mary, and her mother, Mrs. Grace Douglas, of Vernon, were seriously injured. Miss Doris Sutherland of Vancouver, an occupant of the other car, was less seriously injured and was in satisfactory condition at a Princeton hospital.

SHOT HIMSELF

Lorne Sullivan, 18, of Prince George, accidentally shot himself to death in the abdomen on Sunday while bending over to pick blueberries 65 miles south-west of Prince George.

The other traffic fatalities: Mrs. Mary Marino, 55, of Revelstoke, killed Friday when a small bus plunged over an embankment on the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway;

John Turner, 21, killed Saturday in a two-car collision in Vancouver;

Richard Wood, 44, of Sumas, killed Saturday night when hit by a car while riding a bicycle near Vedder Canal in the Fraser Valley;

Kevin Edward Campbell, 8, hit by a truck in Prince Rupert Saturday.

Three Chiefs In Crossfire On Flag Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—The private meetings of party leaders on the flag deadlock spilled out into the Commons today with heated exchanges over who was to blame for the breakdown in negotiations.

H. A. Olson (SC-Medicine Hat) set the stage for the crossfire when he asked Prime Minister Pearson whether he had received any indication from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that another meeting of the party leaders would be useful.

The prime minister said no. Mr. Diefenbaker then asked Mr. Pearson whether he would depart from his "stubborn attitude."

The prime minister said the "adjustments of positions" made by the government were not met in any respect by the leader of the Opposition.

Mr. Diefenbaker jumped up to say it was he who suggested the formation of a committee on the flag.

Mr. Pearson said it wasn't. He said the suggestion came from NDP Leader T. C. Douglas. It was accepted by the prime minister and rejected by Mr. Diefenbaker.

The fall of the Congress government in this tropical state on India's southwest coast came by a vote of 72 to 50, with 15 dissident Congress party members siding with the opposition.

AT GANDER, Nfld.

Cuban Group Flees Airliner

HALIFAX (UPI) — Fourteen Cubans, the biggest single Cuban group known to defect in Canada at one time, today applied for political asylum in the United States.

Five men, four women and five children escaped from a Czechoslovakian airliner Saturday night at Gander, Nfld., during a refuelling stop on a scheduled flight from Havana to Prague.

The mass defection brought to 100 the number of defections from Communist airlines at Gander since August of 1962, a Gander immigration spokesman said.

Although immigration authorities here declined comment, a reliable Cuban spokesman here said the defectors included a Baptist minister, his wife and four children.

The Cuban spokesman said the defectors told him the Communist government of Premier Fidel Castro has tightened food rations and ordered stricter vigilance on gusanos ("worms"), the description for Cubans fleeing the island nation.

FOUR STUDENTS

The spokesman said two of the women have husbands in the U.S. and one has with her a three-year-old child. Four men were identified as students between the ages of 18 and 21.

He said that 42 Cubans are now in the immigration detention quarters where exiles are housed while they await asylum applications.

The Cuban spokesman said the airliner, which flew out of Gander after the defection, carried between 82 and 90 passengers.

Separatist Slogans Chanted

By TED BLACKMAN

MONTREAL (CP)—Scores of youths carrying flags and shouting "revolutionary slogans" staged a rowdy demonstration Monday night in midtown Montreal, burning Union Jacks and overturning three cars.

Police arrested 76 and said they would be charged today with disturbing the peace, refusing to obey police orders to disperse and holding a parade without a permit.

The disturbance erupted about 7:00 p.m. when the demonstrators marched to Lafontaine Park, the scene of a similar incident a week ago when 46 separatist sympathizers clashed with police.

Police were tipped off in advance and used a squad of mounted policemen to break up the parade. But an hour later the youths, carrying Quebec fleur de lis and French tricolor flags, reassembled in the park.

A Union Jack was burned at the foot of the Dollard des Ormeaux monument and several more set afire in front of a building occupied by Montreal-Matin, a French-language morning newspaper.

Two cars were overturned near the building, a block north of the park on Marie-Anne Street, and another automobile upset on Boyer Street, a block west. The vehicles were heavily damaged.

'SEEK POPULARITY'

One of the mob's leaders was believed to be a separatist but "most of them were hot-headed kids striving for popularity," Insp. Paul Picard said. "Once we got to the leaders, many of the others left."

Those arrested were brought to two police stations by police vans and cruisers and lodged in cells.

The mob, estimated at 300 persons at one point, shouted such slogans as "vive le Quebec libre" (long live free Quebec); "vive le FLQ" (long live the Front de Liberation Quebecois); and "vive l'indépendance" (long live independence).

The disturbance flared up when the crowd reached the half-mile square park, bounded by Rachel, Papineau, Parc Lafontaine and Sherbrooke Streets, and assembled at the monument, dedicated to a 17th century figure who fought Indians at Long Sault and saved Montreal from capture.

Two youths set the flag afire but the blaze died out when the mounted police scattered the crowd. A youth grabbed the smoldering emblem and ran off.

Although the crowd yelled FLQ slogans, police said they weren't associated with a particular organization. The FLQ was a terrorist ring responsible for a series of bombings in Montreal in the spring of 1963 that killed one man and maimed another.

Queen Mary Hit by Cleo

SOUTHAMPTON (UPI)—Britain's 81,000-ton passenger liner Queen Mary arrived here today after being "tossed about like a cork" by hurricane Cleo.

The liner's master, Capt. Eric Divers, said 14 passengers were injured, crockery was smashed and furniture damaged when the huge vessel passed through the centre of the hurricane.

Capt. Divers said it was the vessel's stormiest Atlantic crossing since 1943.

Airline 'Bomb-Smeller' Under Study

CHICAGO (AP) — An electronic nose more sensitive than a bloodhound's is being developed to sniff out bombs planted aboard airliners.

The project conducted by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute was made possible by a $39,000 one-year grant from the U.S. Federal

The FAA has wrestled with the problem of aerial sabotage since Nov. 1, 1955, when a time-bomb destroyed an airliner in flight near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. In all, the FAA estimates 191 persons have been killed by criminally-placed bombs.

The feasibility of building an electronic bomb detecting device "looks good," research director Dr. Andrew Dravnieks said in an interview Monday, "but we are trying to make it practical."

Right now researchers are exposing the machines to a seemingly endless list of creams, deodorants, lighter fluids, or anything a passenger might carry.

The electronic nose could operate on much the same principle as a human nose. A complex piece of electrical detectors acutely sensitive to tiny amounts of vapor emitted by explosives would serve as olfactory nerves. When molecules of an explosive material such as dynamite are detected, the disturbance will trigger an alarm.

Under controlled laboratory conditions, Dravnieks said, the lingering odor of dynamite can be detected in a box three

India Government Suffers Blow From Communists

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's ruling Congress party was thrown out of power in Kerala state today by the Communist-led opposition on a vote of no confidence.

Shastri, who also faces a motion of no confidence in the Indian parliament, must now either turn the Kerala administration over to the Communists, or run the state's affairs from New Delhi under the rarely used device called president's rule.

In New Delhi, an onslaught of Communists and other opposition parties mounted in parliament with angry blasts blaming the current food crisis on the bureaucratic bungling of Shastri's government.

Shastri sat quietly with folded hands in a front row seat as speaker after speaker — Communists, Socialists, Independents and Hindu rightists — denounced his regime for failing to meet food shortages and spiralling food prices.

The opposition alliance was building up to a vote on Thursday or Friday on the no confidence motion they managed to get introduced Monday on the first day of the first Parliament session since the death of Prime Minister Nehru in May.

Nehru faced only one no confidence motion — after the 1962 Chinese invasion — in his 17

Monetary Fund Lack Worries 102 Nations

By JOHN RÖDERICK

TOKYO (AP)—The hare of world trade has hopped ahead in the past decade at an annual increase of 10 per cent. The tortoise of money to pay for it—both gold and hard currency reserves—has crept along at 2.8 per cent.

This is the dilemma which confronts the finance ministers of 102 nations, all from the non-Communist bloc except Yugoslavia, meeting in Tokyo this week at the annual conference of the International Monetary Fund.

If, as in the fable, the hare would lie down and let the tortoise overtake it, there would be no problem. But with mounting demands from developing nations and continuing expansion among industrial countries, that seems unlikely.

Twenty years after its creation in wartime 1944, the fund is coming to grips with what it calls "international liquidity," a way to replenish international coffers with gold and dollars or some other medium of exchange to keep trade going.

Before the First World War, gold was the standard of international trade. It collapsed when the warring nations had to pay huge amounts of gold to the United States for strategic materials.

GOLD NOT AVAILABLE

With so much gold concentrated in one country, it was no longer available to pay for the exchange of goods on a world scale.

The monetary fund put gold back into the trade markets, but in a lesser role. The dollar, the only currency for which gold could be exchanged, became in effect the new international trade standard.

For years, the dollar was steady and reliable. But in the 1960s the U.S. balance of payments plunged into the red because of its huge foreign aid commitments. European countries began storing dollars and converting the surplus into gold. The result was a shrinkage in U.S. gold reserves from about $25,000,000,000 in 1949 to $15,500,000,000 in May, 1964. The European Economic Community, the six common market nations, held about $13,000,000,000 in gold.

The American dollar shortage made more dollars available to other countries for trade. But now that the United States is correcting its dollar imbalance, there are fewer of them available and less international liquidity.

NEED TO COMPENSATE

The monetary fund nations are searching for ways to compensate for the reduction in the dollar outflow.

One suggestion is to double the price of gold, now officially $35 an ounce and unchanged since 1934. The United States, whose dollar is pegged directly to gold, objects because this would have the effect of changing the value of the dollar.

The French back a proposal to issue a new kind of currency to replace the dollar in international trade. It would be confined to the 10 big industrial nations of the "Paris group" of the monetary fund.

The have-not nations vehemently oppose this because it would shut them out. They want a big increase in the reserve fund from which they could draw freely. This would be done by boosting the quota which each nation contributes to the fund.

To make everything more confusing, the Paris group argues that there really isn't a shortage in international liquidity. But they say they will go along with a 25 per cent increase in the reserve fund.

Fund Quotas Increase 'Right Move'

TOKYO (AP)—United States Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told world monetary leaders Monday that the United States economy is expanding in "the longest, strongest and best-balanced advance of any peace-time period."

Dillon told fellow governors of the International Monetary Fund at their annual conference here that during the last fiscal year the United States rate of growth in industrial production and in the economy as a whole was better than 5 per cent in real terms and that the gross national product increased by more than $40,000,000,000.

After describing the U.S. economy, Dillon told the governors that despite the improvement in the U.S. balance of payments deficit "we are only half-way back to external balance."

He added: "We cannot relax nor do we intend to."

"An increase in fund quotas seems to us the right move as member countries enter the next phase in the evolutionary development of the international monetary system."

He warned, however, that further substantial increases in reserves would only, for the most part, increase the flow to a few industrialized countries, particularly to Western Europe, "unless and until those countries reduce their chronic surpluses through a relative rise in imports, an increase in their capital exports, or any other acceptable combination of actions that would overcome their propensity to absorb whatever new liquidity may be added to the system in the form of owned reserves."

$4 Billion Fund Boost Proposed

TOKYO (AP)—The governors of the International Monetary Fund proposed today that the fund's 102 member nations take first steps to boost the fund's reserves now totalling $65,600,000,000.

The United States and other industrialized nations are urging an increase of 25 per cent in the quotas each nation contributes to the fund, which is used to stimulate international trade. This would add $4,000,000,000.

A resolution by the board of governors on the second day of the fund's annual meeting asked the executive directors to "proceed to consider the question of adjusting the quotas of members of the fund and at an early date submit an appropriate proposal to the board of governors."

The conference is expected to approve the resolution Thursday. The fund's reserves then could be increased before the end of 1964 or soon after.

Some countries such as Japan also are expected to ask for selective increases to make their contributions more in line with their industrial development.

The have-not nations of the world have spearheaded the move to enlarge the fund's resources because it will give them a bigger reservoir from which to draw in times of economic stress.

Sirens Wail Starts Panic

OTTAWA (CP)—A hunter's shotgun blast was blamed Monday by civil defence authorities for the setting off of 39 sirens in the capital area Saturday afternoon.

A spokesman said pellets accidentally pierced a metal casing carrying a number of cables between the federal warning centre at Carp, Ont., and the capital. The resulting short circuit set off all the sirens in the Ottawa area.

A minor panic resulted in Ottawa when the sirens began their uninterrupted 35 minutes of wailing. Highways were clogged briefly with traffic and police offices were deluged with telephone calls.

Bribe Expose Lawyer David Sturdy Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Sturdy, 57-year-old Vancouver lawyer who touched off the Sommers bribery scandal in British Columbia in 1955, died in hospital Sunday.

He was admitted to hospital Friday with an undisclosed illness. Funeral services were to be held today.

In 1955, Sturdy made public claims that Robert Sommers, then provincial lands and forests minister in the Social Credit cabinet, had accepted bribes.

The resulting litigation erupted into the longest and perhaps most complicated trial in Canadian legal history. A jury later brought in 27 guilty verdicts, 16 not guilty and reached no agreement on 22 other charges.

Sommers was given five years in prison and fined $125 for conspiracy and accepting bribes in connection with the issuance of government forest management licences.

Japan Seeks Fish Harvest

OTTAWA (UPI)—Three-country talks will open here Wednesday to thrash out Japan's objections to being cut out of the rich salmon harvest of the North Pacific ocean.

The talks, bringing together delegates from the United States, Japan and Canada, will be opened by Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud.

Following the brief welcome delegates will go behind closed doors to iron out Japan's objections to the international convention for the high seas fisheries of the North Pacific ocean.

The agreement was signed nearly 12 years ago by the three

Under the agreement Japan cannot fish for salmon, herring or halibut west of the 175th meridian of longitude roughly bisecting the Pacific and Bering Sea.

Japan now wants to move into what Canada and the U.S. regard as their natural resources, developed and nurtured by them.

Japan originally agreed under the "abstention principle" not to fish in an area in which the resource is being scientifically managed and fully utilized by countries claiming prior right to it—Canada and the U.S.

Japan won one major point

last year by getting permission to fish halibut in the Bering Sea. The other two countries could not prove they were scientifically managing and fully utilizing the resource.

Now she is seeking to move into the salmon harvest, claiming that the abstention principle is a discriminatory dodge that has little to do with conservation.

If you're trying to get the most for your insurance dollar, the tape-recorded comments of Russ Jackson may help you:

Russ Jackson talks about doubling his money with London Life

Why did Russ Jackson—football player and mathematics teacher—choose a $25,000 Jubilee whole life policy? Russ gave his reasons in a tape-recorded conversation in his Ottawa home. Here they are—in his own words:

"There are not too many places where you can double your money as well as protect your family."

This one comment sums up Russ Jackson's reasons for buying a London Life Jubilee policy. It's interesting to hear him explain the steps that led up to this investment.

"Being in the position I'm in, I have a lot of insurance people who contact me and try to get me to take insurance policies of one sort or another."

"But I had known some people in London Life and when a chap here in Ottawa—contacted me, I was ready for insurance and more than willing to talk to him."

Why did Russ feel he was "ready for insurance"?

"I was married in 1961 to a Hamilton girl, Lois. We now have two youngsters—a boy, Kevin, and a little girl, Suzanne."

"This policy gives my wife protection if anything should happen to me and would enable her to carry on what I think would be a fairly normal life."

Protection is one side of his Jubilee whole life policy. Investment is the other. Russ looked into this thoroughly.

"As many people know, bonds and investments are part of the Grade 13 Algebra course. Teaching this to the students at high school has made me aware of all the pitfalls and possibilities in this type of investment. I believe the mathematical background has helped a great deal in evaluating this London Life policy."

"My monthly premiums are $34.58."

"If I live to age 65, I will have paid in—being 28 at present—a little over $15,000. And if I leave my dividends to accumulate, which I plan on doing, then this policy can be worth over $30,000."

"This would be double the amount I would have paid in premiums."

(Note: The $30,000 figure Russ mentions above is made up of $13,600 guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends. These dividends are based on the 1964 dividend scale. While they are not guaranteed, London Life has had an outstanding record of dividend growth. For example, since 1951 the dividend rate has been increased seven times.)

"I have to admit it's a long-term investment—you're not going to make a lot of money quickly—but the protection that you get with it makes it extremely attractive."

London Life insurance is flexible. Here are three of the choices Russ will have when he reaches age 65:

(a) He can continue to pay premiums on his $25,000 policy and continue to build savings.

(b) He can withdraw his $30,000 or so as a lump sum.

(c) He can use his savings to provide an annuity for life or for a set number of years.

Russ talked briefly about one other feature of his insurance program:

"I also have what is known as an income continuance. This extends through to May, 1984, and guarantees Lois—if anything happens to me between now and 1984—$200 a month, every month, until that date in '84. The purpose of this is to guarantee my children—who are very young now—the chance of going to college."

(This income would be in addition to the $25,000 provided by Russ' Jubilee policy.)

Russ Jackson's story is not unusual. Today, most young men know they need insurance to protect their families. Many of them are discovering they can also double their money with London Life. A representative of the Company can show you how.

TOP CANADIAN, who placed second in open cutting-horse events at Saanichton Fair on weekend, was ex-Duncan rider David Batty, now working at Douglas Lake Cattle Ranch in interior B.C. He rode boss C. N. (Chunky) Woodward's clever Quarterhorse, He'll Do Tivio.

They Served Up The Prime Cut Of Cutting-Horses

By LLOYD BAKER

A local horse enthusiast had a thought a few months ago which he galloped into one of the biggest things the Saanichton Fair has enjoyed in its 96 years of operation.

With persuasive tongue, A. W. (Bud) Mesher sold the board of directors of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society on the introduction of cutting-horse competitions at the exhibition this year.

Then he took his smooth talk south of the border and to the B.C. mainland.

He wooed many of the cream of cutting-horse competitors in the Pacific Northwest into entering the show. And it was a roaring success!

There's More

That isn't the complete story, though. There was more than winning talk involved. Much muscle work was required, and this proved to be refreshing. Mesher's muscle was joined by that of other horsemen, cattlemen and other farmer-types in a fine spirit of "togetherness."

They slaved on weekends and evenings, reconstructing the horse show ring and stabling at the fair ground. They put a new surface on the ring to ensure acceptable footing for the cutting horse events. A major contributor was the building supply firm of Butler Bros. which donated 300 yards of sand for the ring, as well as equipment to help get it there.

Wife Helps

Spearheading the effort with Mesher were two other members of the three-man horse show committee, Roy Jewell and Aubrey Temblett. And up to her ears in paper work behind scenes was the secretary, Mrs. Lee Mesher, wife of the chairman.

Twenty-two horses were entered in the cutting events, split evenly between the open event and the novice. One came from as far away as Modesto, Calif., two from Oregon and the remainder from Washington and the B.C. mainland.

The competitors passed up a major show, the Ellensburg Rodeo, to come to Saanichton. And after the competitions were over, they said they would be happy to come back.

"We've had a real fine time, and we'll see you again," said Mel McGuire of Yakima, Wash., one of the top cutters in the U.S. whose enthusiasm was not dampened by the fact he had some bad luck and did not get into the money.

Stallion Parade

The events took place Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday morning and afternoon. The Saturday evening show was preceded by a Parade of Stallions to show the calibre of breeding stock available on Southern Vancouver Island. Breeds shown included Thoroughbred, Morgan, Arabian, Appaloosa, Appaloosa pony, Welsh pony, American Saddlebred, Palomino and Quarterhorse.

After the open competition Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, some of the U.S. riders demonstrated the high schooling of their horses by putting them through their paces without use of a bridle.

New Experience

Many in the large crowds at all of the "go-rounds" had never seen cutting-horse events before.

There was vigorous applause as the riders took their mounts into a herd of cattle, selected one animal, drove it out of the herd, and attempted to hold it from rearing to its friends. Each competitor had two-and-a-half minutes to show his horse's prowess in blocking off the steer as it tried to return to the herd through natural instinct.

In the open events the riders were competing for $200 prize money and the Victoria Daily Times Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

Ex-Duncan Boy

Second to him was a Canadian, a former Duncan boy now working at C. N. (Chunky) Woodward's Douglas Lake Cattle Ranch. David Batty, who has ridden in horse shows here and on the mainland for many years, put on a great performance with He'll Do Tivio.

Third, and perhaps the most spectacular contestant in the open event, was a professional cutting-horse trainer from Woodinville, Wash., Buster Smith, whose big Quarterhorse stallion, Maestro, spun and wheeled like a top in the battle of wits with the steers.

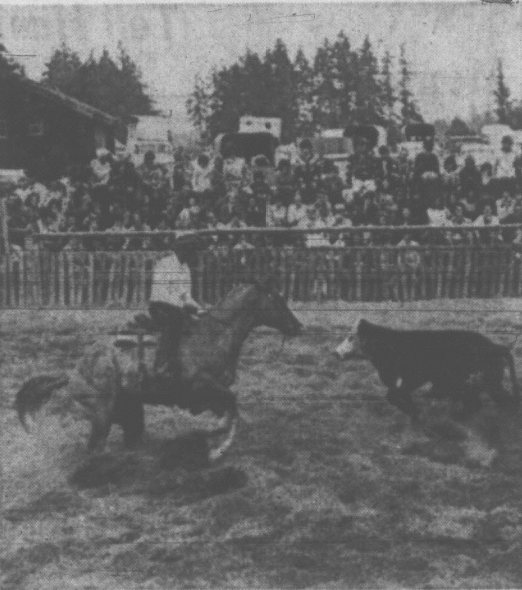

Fourth was one of two sons of Mel McGuire who competed. Larry McGuire showed with Soto Bailey that he is following in father's hoof-prints.

Novice Events

Results of novice events were:

Second go-round—1, Chiquita Pistol, Bob Mate; 2, Rusty Baron, Otto Schultz, Richmond, B.C.; 3, Bueno Chick, Buster Smith; 4, Countess, Louise Anderson, Auburn, Washington.

BURGLAR TAKES $400 FROM HOTEL CASH BOX

Over the long weekend thieves stole $400 from a downtown hotel, $150 worth of tools from a construction company and $120 at other business premises.

The largest haul was made at Cherry Bank Hotel where a cash box was discovered missing Sunday. It contained $400 and had been placed the night before in a drawer in a cupboard in a dining-room at the hotel.

Craftsmen's tools were taken from a pile-driving rig at Butler Bros., 409 Bay. The loss was discovered Monday.

At Pacific Moving Supply, 2643 Douglas, a prowl got away with $80 cash from a till and another $40 from a drawer.

CLOSURE DENIED

Fairey Cutback Worries Union

Union officials, pointing to a sharp cutback in the working force, today predicted Fairey Aviation of Canada is on the verge of shutting down its Patricia Bay plant but the manager vehemently denied the suggestion.

"There is no truth in that at all," said manager K. E. Hibbert.

"The plant is not closing down. We have been reducing staff but that's due to the normal work loads at this time of year."

He said aircraft conversion work is slow at the moment but production of offset presses and industrial equipment for handling materials is continuing.

HERE AGAIN SOON

"We'll be hiring again in the not too distant future," he said.

However, officials of Lodge 456 of the International Machinists Union, said they were so concerned with recent layoffs that a committee has been formed to buttonhole community leaders here in the hopes some method can be found to keep the plant open.

One union official, who preferred to remain unidentified, told The Times the work force

'Over to You, Teacher'—Mothers

Dazed, frightened and excited children filled the school yards this morning between 8:30 and 10 a.m.

Some clutched a friend, some a new book bag and some mother's hand.

They were the first of 26,000 students expected to register for grades one to 12 in the Greater Victoria area, an increase of 1,000 over last year.

Another 1,500 pupils will get their first taste of school as they take their place in kindergarten classes.

Teachers, 947-strong, were braced for the onrush which began at 9 a.m. in the elementary schools, and at 10 a.m. in the junior and senior secondary schools.

City Man Dies In Island Crash

Sidney Couple Injured

A 27-year-old Victoria man died in a two-car collision on the Trans-Canada Highway about seven miles north of Duncan Sunday night.

Dead is Robert Young, 1141 Bute Street.

Duncan RCMP said driver of the other car involved in the accident at about 10:30 p.m. was Melvin Baldwin, 2296 Gore Crescent, Sidney.

Mr. Baldwin was released from hospital after treatment but his wife, Mrs. Greta Baldwin, suffered facial cuts.

She was first taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Victoria. She is reported today in only fair condition.

DETAILS WITHHELD

The cars collided head-on and are wrecks. Police have withheld all details of the accident.

Mr. Baldwin is today still suffering shock. He and his wife were returning from a holiday up-island when the accident occurred.

An inquest into the fatality has been ordered by Coroner D. K. McAdam of Duncan. It will be held in Chemainus but a date has not yet been set.

Hong Kong Vets' Diagnostic Plan Major Objective

Frank Breakwell, president of the Vancouver Island branch of the Hong Kong Veterans' Association, said today that a major effort will be made to obtain diagnostic and research services for sick members.

He leaves Wednesday for Winnipeg where he will represent B.C. members of the association in talks with officials of the Canadian Pensions' Commission and Department of Veterans' Affairs.

The conference will run from Thursday to Saturday. It was scheduled at the suggestion of a parliamentary committee.

"We are asking for diagnostic and research services to find out why the Hong Kong veterans are dying at relatively young ages," said Mr. Breakwell.

"David Groos, our Victoria MP, will also attend the conference to help us present our case and I'd certainly like to give him credit for all the help he is giving us."

MISSING from home almost a week is Lyle French, 837 Esquimalt Road. Relatives think he may be suffering from amnesia. He left home Wednesday to take his car to downtown garage. At the time he was wearing black jeans, black shirt with pearl buttons and black shoes with white socks. He is 24 years old, 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He has dark brown hair and blue eyes. If you have seen him, police ask that you contact them.

Two young men pleaded guilty today to separate charges of assault in which they knocked their victims unconscious.

John R. Cannon, 19, of 1051 Hyacinth, was remanded to Sept. 16 for sentence. He was with several youths who got into an altercation with a carload of other people.

Cannon and his friends followed the other car to a service station on Douglas Street and when it stopped he got out, opened the door of the vehicle and struck the driver in the face.

Evidence showed that Cannon knocked the driver unconscious and then kicked him while he lay on the ground. The victim is still in hospital from the attack which occurred Monday night.

Kenneth Heal, 21, of 1010 Balmoral, was fined $100 for knocking a man unconscious in a commotion at a downtown beer parlor Monday night.

A police officer said Heal got involved in an altercation between several other men, one of whom called him vulgar names. Heal hit the man once and knocked him out.

Restrictions End Oct. 4 On Coast Road

The road to Vancouver Island's west coast Long Beach will be open to public traffic all the time next month.

The 60-mile route from Alberni to Tofino and Ucluelet becomes public property again Oct. 4 when an agreement between the provincial government and MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co. expires.

Gates at either end of the road will be thrown open permanently.

Since 1958, the agreement has allowed the timber firm to place restrictions on public travel.

The precipitous route, rugged but beautiful, was only open to intrepid motorists on weekends and between the hours of 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. weekdays.

The company was allowed to close it completely during periods of extreme fire hazard.

NO RESTRICTIONS

There will be no restrictions of any kind after Oct. 4.

But it may be a long time before the road is any easier to travel.

Only a short section near the west coast end is paved, and Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi would make no promises today about further paving or major improvements.

"As soon as it becomes our responsibility naturally we will try to do as much as we can on it," he said.

This will include stepped up maintenance this winter.

"WHEN WARRANTED"

As for paving: "It will be done when it is warranted and when it can be fitted in with the priority list," Mr. Gagliardi said.

"We are keeping in close touch," he added.

Ask The Times

Q. Why do the schools in B.C. open one week later than schools in other Canadian provinces? D.S.

A. Each provincial department of education is autonomous and therefore can select the opening dates for schools under its jurisdiction.

Q. There is a plaque in Bristol stating John Cabot and his son Sebastian sailed in the ship Matthew in 1497 and discovered the continent of America. Why are we led to believe that Christopher Columbus discovered America? A.V.

A. It depends on how you look at it. Columbus' voyage in 1492 took him to islands of the Caribbean which are considered part of North America. However, Cabot landed off Nova Scotia, the actual continent, in 1497.

However, most historians believe North America was discovered by Lief-Erikson around 1000 A.D.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or local problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Answers within a question answered to invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Victoria and answers will be published daily.

Topics of the Day

A Sidney rider, 18-year-old Karen Burdon brought home the T. N. Henderson Memorial Trophy from the Pacific National Exhibition. She won the major jumping trials at the horse show in open jumping competition against 12 rivals.

Miss Anna Neilson, of 1368 Thurlow, has been appointed president of Victoria Camera Club.

Other officers newly elected by the club are: Maurice Chandler, vice-president; Miss Louise Putnam, secretary, and Miss Christina Paterson, treasurer.

Next regular meeting of the club will be Oct. 28 in the St. John Ambulance Hall, Pandora. On Sept. 23 the club will hold its annual banquet in the Colony Hotel, starting 6:30 p.m.

A police investigation and a pathologist's examination has revealed no negligence in the death Friday of a one-year-old baby.

The investigation was ordered by Coroner Edmond Jorro de St. Jorre after it was discovered there were several bruises on the infant's head.

But, Mr. St. Jorre said this morning, the bruises turned out to be only very superficial and were quite normal on a baby.

He said cause of death was bleeding beneath the cover of the brain. He said there is no suggestion of negligence either on the part of the parents or the babysitter looking after the child.

First place in the Annual Individual City Duplicate Bridge Championship was taken by Mrs. Frances Champlin, Saturday, at Moose Hall.

Runner-up Paul Smith was half a point behind the winner.

Other card sharps were Marjorie Fortye, third place; Patricia Bishop, fourth; Birdie Spotswood, fifth; Laura Tingley, sixth.

New Quarters Of Pacific Club Open Thursday

The 75-year-old Pacific Club will open its new premises at 500 Fort Street to members on Thursday.

The club, formerly occupying the top floor of the Yarrow Building for many years, decided more than a year ago that it would purchase its own premises.

To this end, the former headquarters building of the B.C. Cement Co. was purchased and a renovating and refurbishing program carried out at a cost of $140,000.

In opening the new club, J. E. Phillion, president, said:

"Our executive is very confident that the members will be happy with the new club."

"A great deal of thought has gone into the planning and executing the alterations."

A formal banquet to mark the opening will be held within the next few weeks.

Rumors circulated today that the RCMP "E" Division offices—headquarters staff for the province—will move from the Windemere Hotel on Courtney Street to the "mural building" on Fort Street.

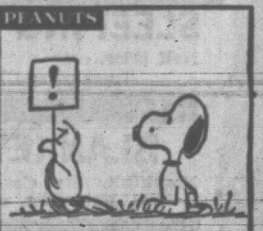

The rumors were neither confirmed nor denied. The Times contacted RCMP, Montreal Trust Company which manages the 1057 Fort Street office block, and one of the building's owners but all declined comment.

A concert by students of a Victoria School of Music conductor's course will be held in Oak Bay High School tonight at 8:30.

Conducting various works will be Charles Moore, Claude Poirier, Derek Macdermot, Raymond Dessaint, Timothy Vernon, Richard Proudman, Rodney Webster and Michel Perreault.

Annual installation of officers of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will be held on Thursday, September 17 at 8 p.m. at Holyrood House. The installation will be followed by a banquet.

Victoria Gyro Club will meet Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the Colony Motel for the annual meeting and election of officers.

Big Flower Show at Home on the Range

It will be Home on the Range at the Victoria Horticultural Society flower show Friday and Saturday

featuring a giant wagon wheel of fruits, vegetables and flowers. The most spectacular show ever staged by the society will open at 2 p.m. Friday in the Curling Rink. The show will remain open until 10 p.m. Friday. Hours on Saturday are 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

New varieties of Dutch dahlias will be on display together with award-winning varieties of chrysanthemums and many other cut flowers. It is expected there will be 170 flower arrangements entered in the decorative section. At 3 p.m. Saturday, Mrs. Theo Wiggan will demonstrate the latest techniques in flower arranging. Gardening information will be available at all times and the show will close with the awarding of trophies, followed by an auction of blooms, vegetables and shrubs.

Russ Eveleigh, chairman of the society's show committee, says the Victoria show will put the exhibits at the Pacific National Exhibition in the shade.

"The standard of blooms and the floral arranging are both away ahead of the PNE," he said.

The wagon wheel floor plan decided upon will feature exhibits of colorful fruit, vegetables, dahlias and chrysanthemums which will rise by means of tiers and staging.

MONTREAL (CP)—The Beatles arrived here today to the screams of an orderly crowd of thousands of teen-agers. Many of the estimated 5,000-up fans had waited for hours to see the mop-haired quartet arrive from Toronto, but they only got a glimpse of them.

Montreal Rowdies
Charged After Riot

MONTREAL (CP)—Twenty-six persons were arraigned today on charges resulting from a demonstration Monday night in midtown Lafontaine Park. All but three pleaded guilty and were sentenced.

Police arrested 76 persons. Thirty were juveniles and were turned over to social welfare authorities. The other 20 were released after questioning.

Arraigned on charges of obstructing pedestrians, 23 pleaded guilty and were given time-in-jail sentences and released. Two were fined $10 when police revealed they had criminal backgrounds. The remaining three pleaded not guilty. Their trials were set Monday.

The disturbance erupted about 7:00 p.m. when the demonstrators marched to Lafontaine Park, the scene of a similar incident a week ago when 46 separatist youths clashed with police.

Police were tipped off in advance and used a squad of mounted policemen to break up the parade. But an hour later the youths, carrying Quebec fleur de lis and French tricolor flags, reassembled in the park.

A Union Jack was burned at the foot of the Doreau monument and several more set afire in front of a building occupied by Montreal-Martin, a French-language newspaper.

Two cars were overturned near the building, a block north of the park on Marie-Anne Street, and another automobile upset on Boyer Street, a block west. The vehicles were heavily damaged.

One of the mob's leaders was believed to be a separatist but "most of them were hot-headed kids, striving for popularity," Insp. Paul Picard said. "Once we got to the leaders, many of the others left."

Those arrested were brought to two police stations by police vans and cruisers and lodged in cells.

The mob, estimated at 300 persons at one point, shouted such slogans as "vive le Quebec libre" (long live free Quebec); "vive le FLQ" (long live the Front de Liberation Quebecois); and "vive l'indépendance" (long live independence).

The disturbance flared up when the crowd reached the half-mile square park, bounded by Rachel, Papineau, Parc Lafontaine and Sherbrooke Streets, and assembled at the monument, dedicated to a 17th-century figure who fought Indians at Long Sault and saved Montreal from capture.

Two youths set the flag afire but the blaze died out when the mounted police scattered the crowd. A youth grabbed the smoldering emblem and ran off.

Although the crowd yelled FLQ slogans, police said they weren't associated with a particular organization. The FLQ was a terrorist ring responsible for a series of bombings in Montreal in the spring of 1963 that killed one man and maimed another.

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's ruling Congress party was thrown out of power in Kerala state today by the Communist-led opposition on a vote of no confidence.

The fall of the Congress government in this tropical state on India's southwest coast came by a vote of 72 to 50, with 15 dissident Congress party members siding with the opposition.

Shastri, who also faces a motion of no confidence in the Indian parliament, must now either turn the Kerala administration over to the Communists,

Cuban Group
Flees Airliner

HALIFAX (UPI)—Fourteen Cubans, the biggest single Cuban group known to defect in Canada at one time, today applied for political asylum in the United States.

Five men, four women and five children escaped from a Czechoslovakian airliner Saturday night at Gander, Nfld., during a refuelling stop on a scheduled flight from Havana to Prague.

The mass defection brought to 100 the number of defections from Communist airliners at Gander since August of 1962, a Gander immigration spokesman said.

Although immigration authorities here declined comment, a reliable Cuban spokesman here said the defectors included a Baptist minister, his wife and four children.

The Cuban spokesman said the defectors told him the Communist government of Premier

In New Delhi, an onslaught of Communists and other opposition parties mounted in parliament with angry blasts blaming the current food crisis on the bureaucratic bungling of Shastri's government.

Shastri sat quietly with folded hands in a front row seat as speaker after speaker—Communists, Socialists, independents and Hindu rightists—denounced his regime for failing to meet food shortages and spiralling food prices.

B.C. MISHAPS
Man Shot
On Day
To Be Wed

By The Canadian Press

The holiday weekend brought 10 accidental deaths on the mainland, including a young man killed on his wedding day by his own rifle.

RCMP in Fort St. John said Robert H. Beattie, 24, was found by relatives Saturday, dead of a bullet wound in the head. He had apparently slipped and discharged the rifle accidentally while hunting near Fort St. John.

He was to have been married Saturday afternoon.

The B.C. toll included one other hunting death, seven highway fatalities and the death of one man in a fire.

FIRE, TRAFFIC

Andrew Johnny, 25, of Vancouver, was alone in a house on the Prince George District Indian Reserve when fire broke out early Monday.

Patricia Toner, 4, of Surrey, died early today of injuries suffered Sunday when her parents' car was hit by another vehicle.

A two-car collision Monday on the southern Transprovincial Highway near Princeton took the lives of Mary Ellen Sutherland, 61, of Kelowna and Leslie William Bradford, 51, of Vernon.

Bradford's wife, Ruth Mary, and her mother, Mrs. Grace Douglas, of Vernon, were seriously injured. Miss Doris Sutherland of Vancouver, an occupant of the other car, was less seriously injured and was in satisfactory condition at a Princeton hospital.

SHOT HIMSELF

Lorne Sullivan, 18, of Prince George, accidentally shot himself to death in the abdomen on Sunday while bending over to pick blueberries 65 miles south-west of Prince George.

The other traffic fatalities: Mrs. Mary Marino, 55, of Revelstoke, killed Friday when a small bus plunged over an embankment on the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

John Turner, 21, killed Saturday in a two-car collision in Vancouver.

Richard Wood, 44, of Sumas, killed Saturday night when hit by a car while riding a bicycle near Vedder Canal in the Fraser Valley.

Kevin Edward Campbell, 8, hit by a truck in Prince Rupert Saturday.

Records Fall
On All Sides

By HUMPHREY DAVY

A record-breaking 20,000 persons attended the 96th annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society over the Labor Day weekend.

"I have never seen as big a fair on Vancouver Island," said Albert Doney, president of the society, as the three-day exhibition closed Monday at Saanichton.

He estimated there were 6,000 on the grounds Saturday, 2,000 Sunday and 12,000 Monday. Previous high attendance was 15,000.

Other records fell too.

While exhibits in some sections were less than last year, the total number of entries was greater—more than 3,000.

The weather was near-perfect—sunny but not too warm on Saturday, cloudy on Sunday and Monday. A short shower Monday afternoon did not interfere with the fun.

There were more than 500 cars parked on the grounds and a similar number on two nearby fields along East Saanich Road.

Crowds flowed almost continuously three and four abreast in the main building, and lineups for rides straggled halfway across the infield at times. A large crowd watched the highland dancing Monday.

Garden produce exhibitors were more than pleased when some judges who had been to the Pacific National Exhibition told them their vegetables and fruits were of a higher quality than their mainland counterparts.

Big winner in the fruit, vegetables and flower section was J. E. Grant, 4877 Wesley Road. He was awarded the Green Cross Challenge Trophy for

FOR AIRLINES

Bomb-Smeller
Under Study

CHICAGO (AP)—An electronic nose more sensitive than a bloodhound's is being developed to sniff out bombs planted aboard airliners.

The project conducted by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute was made possible by a $39,000 one-year grant from the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA has wrestled with the problem of aerial sabotage since Nov. 1, 1955, when a time-bomb destroyed an airliner in flight near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. In all, the FAA estimates 191 persons have been killed by criminally-placed bombs.

The feasibility of building an electronic bomb detecting device "looks good," research director Dr. Andrew Dravnieks said in an interview Monday, "but we are trying to make it practical."

The electronic nose could operate on much the same principle as a human nose. A complex field of electrical detectors acutely sensitive to tiny amounts of vapor emitted by explosives would serve as olfactory nerves. When molecules of an explosive material such as dynamite are detected, the disturbance will trigger an alarm.

Under controlled laboratory conditions, Dravnieks said, the lingering odor of dynamite can be detected in a box three weeks after the explosive has been removed. But the problem now, he said, is making the nose discriminate between odors of explosives and those of harmless substances.

Queen Mary Hit by Cleo

SOUTHAMPTON (UPI)—Britain's 81,000-ton passenger liner Queen Mary arrived here today after being "tossed about like a cork" by hurricane Cleo.

The liner's master, Capt. Eric Divers, said 14 passengers were injured, crockery was smashed and furniture damaged when the huge vessel passed through the centre of the hurricane.

Capt. Divers said it was the vessel's stormiest Atlantic crossing since 1949.

PEARSON HOPES FOR MEETING WITH JOHNSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons today he hopes a meeting can be arranged between himself and President Johnson on the West Coast to mark the ratification of the Columbia River treaty.

He said the Canadian and American governments plan to exchange the formal instruments of ratification Sept. 16.

He expected to make an announcement in a day or two on whether he and President Johnson will perform the ceremony themselves in visits to British Columbia and Washington state.

Mr. Pearson told Harold Winch NDP-Vancouver East that such a meeting would not involve him in the American presidential election campaign. The Columbia treaty function would be the only reason for the meeting.

WIRE BRIEFS

'Reds Seek to Gain'

GENEVA (Reuters) — The West today accused the Soviet Union of trying to gain military superiority on conventional weapons through its disarmament plan.

William C. Foster, U.S. delegate to the 17-nation disarmament conference, said the Soviet plan would result in an imbalance in conventional weapons which would be an invitation to aggression.

Strike Settled

THOMPSON, Man. (CP) — A strike at the International Nickel Company mine here has been settled and workers will be back on the job Wednesday, a union official said today.

OUTDOOR BENEDICTION was held in front of St. Ann's School, Tzouhalem, at the weekend during the Corpus Christi procession. ### NANAIMO BRIEFS

70% of Cars Rejected By Test Unit

NANAIMO — Seventy per cent of the 483 cars submitted to the motor vehicles branch car testing unit in its first five days' operation here were rejected.

Branch officials said Saturday 146 cars passed the test and 340 were rejected in the five days ending Friday. However, 143 of the rejects were passed when returned for a second test.

The mobile unit is at Burnaby today for a two-week stay.

Axel Duch, manager of Casidair Services Limited, said Saturday the firm plans to introduce early morning and late evening seaplane flights between Nanaimo and Vancouver this fall.

Mr. Duch said the early flights will be timed to connect with major flights out of Vancouver International Airport.

The planes will operate between Nanaimo harbor and the Sea Island seaplane base near the Vancouver airport.

The park was given to the city in 1957 by the old B.C. Electric Company.

Aldermen John Cook and Bus MacDonald also took part in the brief ceremony.

Three Chiefs In Crossfire On Flag Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — The private meetings of party leaders on the flag deadlock spilled out into the Commons today with heated exchanges over who was to blame for the breakdown in negotiations.

H. A. Olson (SC-Medicine Hat) set the stage for the crossfire when he asked Prime Minister Pearson whether he had received any indication from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that another meeting of the party leaders would be useful.

The prime minister said no. Mr. Diefenbaker then asked Mr. Pearson whether he would depart from his "stubborn attitude."

The prime minister said the "adjustments of positions made by the government were not met in any respect by the leader of the Opposition."

Mr. Diefenbaker jumped up to say it was he who suggested the formation of a committee on the flag.

Mr. Pearson said it wasn't. He said the suggestion came from NDP Leader T. C. Douglas. It was accepted by the prime minister and rejected by Mr. Diefenbaker.

FOUR ESCAPE IN BOAT EXPLOSIONS

At Campbell River Monday a 29-foot gillnetter mysteriously blew up minutes after leaving the government wharf.

Owner of the boat, Pat Vienneau, of Willow Point, was only slightly burnt when the explosion ripped off the cabin roof.

He and two friends, who escaped injury, were taken off the burning boat by John Humphries manning the search and rescue boat.

At Retreat Cove on Galiano Island Sunday, a Vancouver boat owner was blown into the water when his $3,000 boat exploded.

As Andrew Gilfiallan, 2270 East 50th, was dragged on to shore, his 20-foot craft settled lower in the water and eventually sank.
